THE BENEDICT COAT OF ARMS

COAT OF ARMS, heraldic insignia, originally embroidered on the tabard, a short coat worn by knights over the armor. They originated in the age of chivalry, when they were assumed as emblematic of the adventures and hopes of the knight, and were useful for distinguishing individuals whom it was difficult to recognize when in full armor. The favorite emblem of the knight later became the adopted badge of the family; the figures or characters employed in the coat of arms began to receive names, and so the language and science of heraldry came into existence. Modern nations have adopted coats of arms, in monarchical countries, sometimes in adaptation of the heraldic insignia of a dynasty.

There is a Benedict crest or coat of arms, though we can't know whence it is derived or whether it is authentic. It is shown in Eugene Lieber's Heraldry in America and is, in fact, a most attractive emblem. (This book is also in the Congressional Library.) Copies of the crest are, or were a few years ago, offered by the John W. Ward Co. of 73 Wentworth Street, Charleston, South Carolina. The Ward Company advertises it as "painted by America's leading geneological supply house." The motto is Benedictus qui patitur (We will make our own.) I don't vouch for this translation. It is the one given in the source quoted. The author recommends copies of the Coat of Arms to be secured from Douglas O'Reilly of 157 Strong Avenue, Syracuse, New York 13210 Phone: Syracuse (315) 472-3858. He makes them on wood shaped in the form of a shield approximately 9 x 10 or on matted material of water color paper and framed.

Beardsley's Dictionary of English and Welsh Surnames:

> A family tradition states that the Benedicts were anciently in the silk manufacturing district of France and of Latin origin. At the time of the Huguenot persecutions they fled to Germany and then by way of Holland to England. Thomas Benedict of Nottinghamshire, American progenitor of the family, is said to have been an only son, born in 1617. That name had been confined to only sons for more than 100 years. When Thomas Benedict left England he did not know of another living person of the name. Hence, it is assumed that his father was not then living.

"Americana 1935 edition Volume #29 Page 98"

> Belonging to a group of surnames of baptismal origin, the patronymic Benedict was one of the most popular personal names of surname epoch owing its favor to the Benedictines. Several of its' derivants, such as Bennet, Bennett and Benson are among the most familiar English surnames. Early records of the name are found in Hundred Rolls, 1273 when Reginald Benedict is mentioned as of County Hunts, and Clemens Benedict of County York.

It has been a pleasure to work with so many kind and understanding people during the past ten years while collecting data for this Volume II of the Benedict Genealogy. We must give much credit to Henry Marvin Benedict who laid the ground-work for this second volume. During the early part of this century a family reunion was held yearly at Grove Park in Elmira, New York. At that time officers were elected and dues collected to carry on an ancestor-searching campaign. Much data was collected with the thought in mind of publishing a revision to Volume I. Mr. William Custer Benedict of Blossburg, Pa. was very kind in turning over a great deal of this data to the author. It has been very helpful in the success of this revision.

Others who have worked tirelessly on collecting data for this large project are Charles Elmer Benedict of Altadena, California, who has worked with me for five years, and LeRoy Lowell Benedict of Jackson, Michigan has helped much with the Michigan Benedicts. Each of these men has done much research in order to make this publication possible. Another man who has published a Benedict Genealogy is Claud Council Benedict of Little Rock, Arkansas. He has published "The Family Book or Genealogy Of The Descendants of Enoch Benedict, July 1961." (Enoch[6], Gilbert[5], Nathaniel[4], Nathaniel[3], Samuel[2], Thomas[1],) The author comes down this same line through Enoch's brother, Levi[6],. Marvin J. Pearce, Sr. of El Cerrito, California, whose wife was Olive Belle Benedict, published "Benedict Pioneers in Kentucky" and made his data available to the author. Special recognition is given to Mrs. Archibald K. Benedict of Sherburne, New York who was kind enough to loan her 1870 genealogy which was used as the master for this revision. There are countless others who have gone to great length to supply information.

We are very sorry for those families in future years whose forebearers were not cooperative. We have found many to be slothful in regard to replying and through their carelessness their descendants must suffer. The author has done all possible in his capacity to obtain correct data, but due to lack of information there may be a few errors. We hope that for the most part the genealogy is correct.

It can be said that this publication is a project of the author's family. It started out as a project in search of his own personal line and gradually became a hobby. On vacations we gathered addresses from phone books or any other source that was available. Then during the winter months letters and forms were sent out to gather in the data.

The author's mother, Clara Myrtle(Cramer)Benedict, played a major roll in the assembling of the information. Every page of this volume was written first in long hand by her as the author dictated it from letters, scraps of paper, forms and other sources. It was five years in assembling stage. Mrs. Clara Benedict also assisted in sending out forms and in addressing envelopes, etc. If it had not been for her spirit, that was in this project, it would no doubt have taken many years longer to assemble. She worked with me until a few days before her sudden death caused by a hip fracture on February 17, 1964. Her death occured on February 21, 1964. In the later stages we must not forget the author's wife, Esther Winefred(Wemes) Benedict, who has typed all of the information. She also has assembled the giant index and made a list of addresses so you folks could be informed of the new two volume genealogy. We can all say we are proud of the outcome of this great project, yet we as a family are not taking full credit by any means.

Without any reservation the most important message that the author wishes to leave with you is, "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." St.John 3: 3. This is the first step to salvation and we must follow other steps also. "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits." Matthew 7: 14 & 15. The marks of a true prophet or preacher can be read about in Matt. 10 and Luke 10. The marks of a "hireling" or false prophet or preacher can be read about in John 10. It is the advice of the author to read these chapters before the genealogy is read and compare what you know to be religion today with what Jesus said must be done. If the leaders of the religion we follow are wrong we know the whole thing is wrong. It would pay us eternally to investigate and do something about it. "And I say unto you, ask, and it shall be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you."For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." Luke 11: 9 & 10. It is a good thing to have an open and inquiring mind when it comes to our place in eternity. Where will we stand? Are we sure we are saved? These are good questions to ask and it is a wise thing if we get the correct answers to them before time is taken from us.

I would appreciate it if you would keep me informed from time to time of any births, marriages, deaths, etc. in your family. An effort will be made to keep this information for future reference and perhaps could be used in a revision at some future date.

VI. NOTE ON BRIDGHAM AND THOMAS BENEDICT OF NORWALK, by John Insley Coddington, F.A.S.G., a noted genealogist, of 11 Walnut Street, Bordentown, New Jersey, 08505. Taken from Pages 120-121 American Genealogist, Volume 33 (1957) More information on Pages 113-120 on the Bridgham family.

VII. "The Benedicts in the American Revolution" by Isaac H. Benedict referred to in the preface of Volume I as the Military Roll.

I. AN ANCESTRESS OF THE BENEDICT FAMILY IN AMERICA, by Benjamin Lincoln Benedict[8], A.M., A.B. Burlington, Vt., December 1915 (George Wyllys[7], L.L.B., Rev. Jole Tyler[6], Rev. Abner[5], Peter[4], James[3], John[2], Thomas[1])

Thomas Benedict, who came over from England to America in 1638, at the age of twenty-one, was the first of that name in this country, as in the Benedict Genealogy of 1870 our historian tells us. He was the son of William Benedict, who had lived in Nottinghamshire, England. Who was his mother? In Water's "Genealogical Gleanings in England," (p. 1047) there is printed the Will of Henry Hunlock of Wingerworth, Derbyshire; it is dated July 13, 1610, and was probated for record February 16, 1612. In it Hunlock bequeathes "to my loving son, William Benedeke, forth shillings to buy him a ring for remembrance, and to my daughter, Ann Benedeke, twenty pounds at one-and-twenty years of age."

Derbyshire is a county adjacent to Nottinghamshire and Wingerworth is but a few miles from Nottingham, where William Benedict lived; and these bequests, in connection with the dates of the birth and emigration of Thomas, supported by the testimony of the wife of Thomas, given on page 2 of the Benedict Genealogy, seem to warrant the conclusion that the mother of Thomas was Ann Hunlock of Wingerworth, that his father, William, married her before July 13, 1610, that she was not of age then, nor before 1612, and therefore was not twenty-eight years old when Thomas was born in 1617. No record was found by our historian of the name of the mother of William or of his grandmother; so that Ann Hunlock Benedict is the earliest ancestress of the name yet known.

The Hunlocks, or Hunlokes, were an old family in Derbyshire. Ann's father, Henry, was sheriff of the county and in attendance upon King James First during his royal progress through that county; the date and place of his burial has not been ascertained, but on a slab in front of the altar in Wingerworth Church is inscribed in Latin the following:

(translated) Henry Hunloke son of Henry
Buried 17th day of August, A. D. 1624

Henry Hunloke, Knight(Miles) and Baronet son of the above-named Henry Buried 12th day of January, 1647

Evidently the Henry first interred there could not have been Ann's father whose will was recorded in 1612; but as Wingerworth Hall is known to have been the family estate for more than 300 years it is a fair assumption that he was Ann's elder brother, who succeeded his father. If so the second Henry there interred was Ann Hunlock's nephew; according to historical statements he was knighted by King Charles First on the battlefield of Edgehill in 1642 and afterwards made baronet. A portrait hangs in the picture-gallery at Wingerworth Hall inscribed "Sir Henry Hunlock ae. 21, 1639." If this is a portrait of the baronet who died in 1647, he was born in 1618, and was a cousin of Ann Hunlock Benedict's son Thomas. There is also in the picture-gallery at Wingerworth Hall a portrait inscribed "Ann Hunloke," but the date on it is later than 1610, and the portrait is that of a woman who was not born at that date.

The facts and dates above given were some of them obtained by the late Robert D. Benedict, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and others by a member of his family in 1905, by visits to Nottingham and Wingerworth, and while they may be thought not conclusive, yet they seem sufficient to warrant the above assumptions based on them as not unfounded. The probability of their correctness is certainly very strong. As the family line has not been traced back in England, except by the tradition noted in the Genealogy, to identify either the grandmother or great-grandmother of Thomas Benedict, Ann Hunlock Benedict is our first English ancestress yet known.

II. SOUL - GOD - MAN, by Elias Uriah Benedict, Page 173, #189 Vol. I and Page 183, Volume II.

My reason for the following is because many friends seem inclined to dispute the possibility of spirit life or soul.

Mankind is inclined to simulation which is productive of no earthly pleasure. A traverse to the author of our being. What is soul? It is a vital principle, intellectual life: source of reason; power to acquire knowledge; a comprehensive understanding that makes us responsible beings; a perpetuation of existance that makes us individuals here with a hope for the hereafter; celestial power that has an infinite future; germ of deity; immaculate origin; innate spirit of life; transmitted immortality by deity; soul that which recognizes the little or much individuals may possess of true greatness of spirit life.

Charity, forgiveness and mercy are the outpouring pleasure and product of the soul. Soul, that which recognizes the liberty of conscience, that meets its want in blending its purpose with infinite good. Soul the embodiment of the senses; primeval purpose of the Author of life; sphere in which all life and hope exists of immortality; absorbing principle or divinity.

Without soul, there would be no sorrow or grief, no feeling of joy, or tears of affection. Soul, our existance, our manhood, our inspiration and our being. The fountain of life from which all good flows. Soul, that which animates material, every fibre, tendon, ligament of the natural body obey the will of the soul. Material is subject to changes. Soul is not. There is no resemblance in the purpose for which the two were designed to fill. Soul in individuals breaks the silence of the veiled mist of unbelief. We find it in the bleak ice bound zone of the north, struggling to reach what nature seems to have forbidden. We find it in the torrid, searching for hidden wealth. It wakes from its slumber sleeping centuries to glean from earth's clasp bosom its veiled mysteries in the sphere on which our field of progress exists. It peers into the boundless realm of space and shoots like a meteor from star to star, from planet to planet, in its failing efforts to reach the end. It diverges from its given center and expands to every compass point. It realizes in thought what words fail to express. It lurks on the verge of sternity and listens to the expected voice of the departed. It realizes pleasure in the line of duty while waiting for inspiration from the author of its being in working out the numerous problems of creation. If under the rough smiling valleys; it listens to the lapping of the crystal waters. It beholds the cardinal and lily blooming in obscure places. It breathes the wasting fragrance of the morning flower. It reposes on verdant fields and beneath the over-shadowing boughs of the towering oak. It traces the rugged and winding way to the mountain top. It pauses on the everlasting snow-bound peak to kiss the approaching heavens, and listen to the moaning, sighing winds, and wondering from whence it came, and seem to dream it is but the echo of angel songs. It is found pleading in the courts of justice. It invades every home and domestic circle. It pleads for forgiveness at the altar of sacrifice and prayer. Its melodious song echoes through the corridors of church and cathedral. Its sobbing grief frequents the haunts of the dying and the dead. It sheds a hallow of glory around the innocent and pure in heart. It reciprocates the infant's smile, and prizes the mother's love. It bends tenderly to the afflicted and disconsolate. Soul, the all absorbing intellectual power; the source of life and realism. It echoes every whisper of love. It dwells in the crowded metropolis as well as the lowly obscure home of the peasant. It abides with pauper and peasant. Man rejoices in its existence; this inheritance of immortality; the abiding place marked by human voice and achievement. When solving problems discovered in nature and apolying the law that exists that magnifies our being and crowns it with triumph, it yearns for the presence of its author; and lives in abiding faith in immancipation from sin. When divested of its material garb, which is a living sepulcher until the spirit is perfected for a higher and more lofty purpose in the never ending march of progress and destiny for which it was created, of such we are.

It is the soul that prompts utterances that paliates distress, sorrow and grief. It is soul that bids us hope on when the darkened clouds of unbelief over-shadow us. It is soul that lives when everything in nature sleeps in death. It is soul that exacts justice when cavelling for individual rights. It is steadfast, transfixed and headless as the tempest blast in its holy purpose to establish our sacred inheritance bequeathed by divine will. It is as pure as the odor of the rose and as refulgent as the lightning wing. It banishes every instinct that lurks in thought that disturbs the fellowship of man and reverence for the author of our being.

It baffles time and triumph in the dissolution of the spiritual from the natural in passing from time to eternity. Soul is deity. Infinite wisdom of creation and purpose of God, the Almighty.

III. A FAMILY'S PHENOMENAL LONGEVITY,
by Commodore Elias Cornelius Benedict, Page 126, Volume I.

It is said that the Benedict family holds the record for longevity in modern times. Three hundred years ago Thomas Benedict came to this country, and the average of each of his 170 descendants has been 83 years. One died at the age of 100 years. Nine died between the ages of 95 and 100 years. Fifteen died between the ages of 90 and 95. Twenty-six were between 85 and 90 when they died. Forty-two lived to be between 80 and 85 years old. Seventy-seven died between the ages of 75 and 80 years. Sixty-two years ago the present head of the family, Commodore Elias Cornelius Benedict, the poor son of a poor New England minister, came down to New York City and became a banker. Commodore Benedict, who is soon to celebrate his seventy-ninth birthday, says that contentment and freedom from strife and cares that are a tax on vitality are the secret of the phenomenal longevity of his family. He says: "I have worked hard, but have played whenever I could find opportunity. If it had not been for those periods of play I would have been dead long ago. I attend to business now because I cannot get away from it. I get every bit of enjoyment out of life that is possible, and I realize now that I could have got a great deal more had I not been bent on making money. Now that I have it, what good is it to me? I have done my children a great injustice to bring them up in luxury. The parent who accumulates a fortune and dangles it before his children commits a crime. Extreme poverty is truly a priceless inheritance. I suppose there are exceptions, but all the men I recall who have become great in the fields of literature, art or statecraft have been born in poverty. The only great man is the one who helps his fellow man by adding to the general store of the world's happiness." That play is as necessary as work in the divine economy for the health of the body and mind and soul as well is a lesson that Americans should seriously consider. The swift pace of American life kills; kills many of the women at forty and the men at forty-five, whose clock of life is wound up by nature to run for three-score years and ten. Commodore Benedict has on his yacht alone made rest and pleasure trips amounting to 225,000 miles, a distance almost ten times the circumference of the globe. It was on that yacht that Grover Cleveland had some of his happiest hours of recreation in fishing. There was hereditary longevity in the Benedict family. There was long life in the brain cells, the blood current, and the muscular tissues. Many beautiful families with contentment and playful spirit have faded early with diseases from hereditary tendencies. Many families naturally strong have died prematurely for want of systematic rest and recreation and a contented spirit. The moral element as a factor in longevity is not to be overlooked. It was a good start for a long life to be born in a parsonage with virtue and poverty as friendly instrumentalities. This relation between a contented and playful spirit and physical health is thus described by the wise man: A merry heart doeth good like a medicine, but a broken spirit drieth the bones. (Prov. 17: 22)

IV. SUFFOLK COUNTY SESSIONS, 1669-1684 Liber I, P.#39 Ct. of Sessions, Southampton, March 5,6,7 days Mar.1672-3

Thomas Benedict and Henry Whitney against Mr. Richard Smith of Nessaqueaks, defendant in an action of Defamation. This jury finds for plaintiffs of suit that the defendant should make public acknowledgement that he hath done Goodman Benedict and Whitney wrong in saying that they were purgered persons or to pay the said Benedict and Whitney 50 pounds. The place where the acknowledgement is to be made will leave to the Court.

The Court give judgement accordingly and the place of acknowledgement to be in open court, and the acknowledgement to stand on record. Whereas I Richard Smith of Neeseaquack have spoken words to several persons and in several places tending much to the defamation of Mr. Benedict and Whitney saying that they were forwarned or perjured persons and this fully evidenced against me in court, I do acknowledge my great error therein desiring the parties whom I have thus wronged to forgive me, hoping it shall be a warning to me hereafter of offending in ye like nature.

The above is a true copy of ye acknowledgment made by Mr. Richard Smith in Open Court.

V. ANCESTRY OF THE BENEDICTS OF DENMARK

In Denmark, the prodigies of bravery performed by Benedict, the brother of Canute IV, in defending the King, his brother, covered the name with honor. Canute IV died 1086, King of Denmark, known as the saint, because of his activity as a church builder and his generosity to the clergy. He introduced foreign scholars and endeavored to abolish serfdom. This family can be traced to the year 800, and with further study could no doubt go to 500. They can be connected with all the kings down to the present time. In Denmark they have carried the name down through several centuries, and today we find the name, Benedikte, the daughter of King Frederick of Denmark.

Canute (995-1035,) father of Benedict and Canute IV, was married twice. He married first Algiva and second, Emma, daughter of Richard the fearless, Duke of the Normans. Emma of Normandy was also married twice. She married first, Ethelred, King of England, in 1002, and second to Canute. Ethelred was King of England before Canute. He was born in 968 and died 1016, and was son of Edgar, King of England. The marriage of these two families knit the first close ties between the ruling families of England and Normandy.

They migrated to Norwich, England at a very early period which was the ancient seat of the Benedict Family. There were also settlements of Flemish and Dutch weavers there at the same time. Norwich was a Danish borough in the ninth century. They migrated from Norwich to Nottinghamshire, and according to information that Charles E. Benedict has obtained, one borough of Nottinghamshere were all Benedicts. Whether this Benedict is our ancester is a mute question, nevertheless his family was at these various places at the same time, and I believe they must be connected with our Benedict Family.

VI. NOTE ON BRIDGHAM AND THOMAS BENEDICT OF NORWALK, by John Insley Coddington of Bordentown, New Jersey

Note on Bridgham and Thomas Benedict of Norwalk: In the preceding article, mention was made of a reference in the Boyd Marriage Index of Suffolk at the Society of Genealogist's Library in London to the marriage in 1629 between John Bridgham and Elizabeth "Benedick" at Woolpit in Suffolk. The entry in the original Parish Register of Woolpit reads:

"1629. 8th September. John Bridgham & Elizabeth Benedict widow(came both out of Norfolke.") (This is the only Bridgham or Benedict entry at Woolpit.) We have here, I think, a clue to the true parentage and county of birth of Thomas Benedict, who was born in England in 1617, came to New England about 1638, and settled successively at Southold, Huntington, and Jamaica, Long Island, and at Norwalk, Conn., where he died between 28 Feb. 1689-90 (the date of his will) and 18 March following (the date of the inventory of his estate.) Thomas Benedict, who was a prominent man in each of the towns in which he lived, married Mary "Bridgum," and by her had issue nine children: Thomas, John, Samuel, James, Daniel, Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah, and Rebecca.

According to family tradition, set down in his old age by Deacon James[3] Benedict of Ridgefield, Conn., a grandson of Thomas[1] and Mary Bridgum Benedict, the Benedict family came from the county of Nottingham, and Thomas was the son, grandson, and great-grandson of men named William Benedict. Deacon James Benedict further averred that Thomas's mother died, and his father then married "the widow Bridgum," who by a previous marriage had had a daughter, Mary, who later became Thomas Benedict's wife.

Now, Deacon James Benedict was a worthy but muddle-headed old gentleman. There is not the slightest trace of a Benedict family any where in any Nottinghamshire records, and we may be quite sure that no Benedict ever lived in that county. On the other hand, Deacon James Benedict's mother was a Gregory, and his maternal ancestors, the Gregory family, did indeed come from Nottinghamshire. This is the explanation of one confusion in the Deacon's recollections.

It seems altogether likely that Deacon James Benedict was also mixed up regarding the step-relationship of his paternal grandparents, Thomas[1] and Mary(Bridgum) Benedict. No evidence has been found that a man named Benedict married a widow Bridgham (or Bridgum) as the Deacon spelled it, but in the Parish Registers of Woolpit we have found the marriage of a John Bridgham to Elizabeth Benedict, widow, on 8 Sept. 1629. It seems very likely indeed that we have here the record of marriage of the widowed father of Mary "Bridgum" to the widowed mother of Thomas Benedict. The additional note in the marriage entry, "came both out of Norfolke," is further confirmation to our identification, for Norfolk and London are the only two localities in England where the very rare name of Benedict (probably continental in origin) is to be found in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

VII. "THE BENEDICTS IN THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION" by Isaac H. Benedict

Thomas Benedict was a lineal descendant of William Benedict who resided in Nottingham, England in 1500. Thomas of Norwalk, Conn. of the fourth generation from William was also born in Nottingham in 1617 and came to New England in 1638, settled in Massachusetts, removed to Southold on Long Island, and in 1665 settled in Norwalk, Conn. His wife was Mary Bridgum (Bridgham) who was in the same ship with her husband.

Both were born in England. Both sailed from Southhampton, England in April 1638 in the good ship "Confidence," a sailing vessel. The Master was John Jobson, bound for the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The first station of this colony was established at Cape Ann in 1623. The settlement was moved to Salem, Mass. in 1628 and was made up of men from the west part of England and men interested in the fishing trade. The Benedicts, not being interested in fishing moved south and west settling in Southhold, Long Island for their first permanent home where all their children were born. Their five sons went to Norwalk with their parents as follows: 1.Thomas[2] married Mary Messenger. In the Revolution their great-grandchildren were Thomas[5], Daniel[5], and Hannah[5]; their great-great-grandson was Thomas[6].

2. John[2] married Phebe, dau. John Gregory. In the Revolution their granddaughter was Betty; their great grandchildren were Darius[5], Aaron[5], James[5], Isaac Oliver[5], Lieut. Peter[5], John[5], William[5], Ambrose[5], Lewis[5], Capt. Benjamin[5], Lieut. Ezra[5], Capt. Daniel[5], Col. Joseph[5], Isaac[5], Abraham[5], (two) Thomas[5], Nancy[5], (Thomas[5], Thomas[4], James[3], John[2] and Thomas[5], Thomas[4], Thomas[3], John[2]) their great-great-grandsons, Col. Joseph, Jr.[6], Enoch[6] and Gamaliel[6].
3. Samuel[2] married Rebecca Andrews. In the Revolution their grandson was Nathaniel[4]; their great-grandchildren were Jonathan[5], Gilbert[5], Abel[5], Samuel[5], Capt. Timothy[5], William[5], Ephraim[5], Rachel[5], and Sarah[5]; their great-great-grandson was E. Lemuel[6].
4. James[2] married Sarah, dau. John Gregory. In the Revolution their grandchildren were Thaddeus[4], Elisha[4], Robert[4], Molly[4], Jemima[4], and Mindwell[4]. Their great-grandchildren were Caleb[5], Elisha, Jr.[5], Ira[5], Elias[5], Felix[5], Francis[5], Capt. Benjamin[5], Hezekiah[5], Capt. Benajah[5], Ensign William[5], Moses[5], Amos[5], Peter[5], Micajah[5], Michael[5], Asahel[5], Bushnell[5], and several others. (It is said that after the British left Danbury in 1777 Michael, Asahel and Bushnell were precipitately called by Gen. Wooster to accompany him and fight at Ridgefield. They are not recorded in American Histories. Their great-great-grandsons were Gershom[6], Levi[6], and John[6].
5. Daniel[2] married Mary Marvin. In the Revolution their grandson was Matthew[4]; their great-grandchildren were Lieut. Lemuel[5], Matthew, Jr.[5], Aaron[5], Capt. Noble[5], Sgt. Jonah[5], Zadock[5], Amos[5], Nathan[5], Abijah[5], Ebenezer[5]; their great-great-grandchildren were Daniel[6] and Ensign Ezra[6].
Thaddeus[4] (Judge Thomas[3], James[2], Thomas[1],) was born in Danbury, Conn. Nov. 1, 1728, married Feb. 2, 1747 Abigail Starr who was a lineal descendant of Thomas Starr of Charlestown, Mass. who married Martha, dau. of Geo. and Judith Bunker. George owned the memorable Hill that bears his name forever sacred in the annuals of American Independence. He was justice of peace May 1774-1800, selectman in 1784, one of the sufferers by burning of Danbury in 1777. He was allowed by Connecticut, May 1792, L 521-19 S 6 d equal to American money $2610 for his loss. He was enlisted and served two months under Gen. Wooster and discharged Dec. 24, 1776. In the latter part of the year 1776 he was chosen by the commissioner of American Army as superintendant of military stores which were collected and deposited in Danbury previous to an invasion into the town made by the British in 1777.

In April, 1777, Gen. Tryon came from New York with a detachment of two thousand men for the purpose of destroying the continental stores in Danbury. They landed at Camp Point in the town of Fairfield, and marched directly to Danbury. There was in the town a small number of Continental troops but without arms. On Saturday April 26 at about three o'clock in the afternoon the British under Gen. Tryon made a hostile raid into Danbury. Immediately they rudely crowded into the dwelling houses and occupied all the rooms from the cellar to the garret. They terribly frightened the inhabitants and drove them out of the houses into the street. They soon began those cruelties and excesses which charactize an unprincipled and exasperated enemy. Several persons were inhumanly murdered. The next morning the unhappy inhabitants who remained in the town saw the darkness of night suddenly dispelled by the awful blaze of their dwelling houses. The enemies burned Thaddeus' dwelling house and several other houses kept for public entertainment. Also the houses belonging to Matthew, Matthew, Jr., Jonah, Zadock Benedict were burned. (History of Danbury, page 94) Thaddeus was a great sufferer. After the British left Danbury Gen. Wooster and Sillman immediately collected a party of inhabitants among whom were Thaddeus and his cousin, Nathan, and fought at Ridgefield where Gen. Wooster was fatally wounded. (Robbins Century Sermon, P. 14) Nathan and several other men from Danbury were taken prisoners and carried to the old Sugar House prison in New York. Thaddeus died on the 20th of January 1805 in the 78th year of his age and was interred in the Old Danbury cemetery where Gen. Wooster was also buried.
Elisha[4] (Judge Thomas[3], James[2], Thomas[1],) was born in Danbury, Conn. Apr. 2, 1736, married Jerusha Starr, widow of Thomas Barnum, who fell in the French war in Canada. Elisha removed to Albany, N. Y. from Danbury in 1772 and lived there. In 1774 he was engaged by direction of N. Y. Prov. Congress in forming military companies in Cumberland Co., Vt. (Hall's Vermont Pages 387 and 641.) He was commissioned captain in 8th Co. 2nd.N.Y. Continental Regt., June 29,1775 to January 1776. Captain Elisha and his three sons: Ensign Caleb, Elias and Felix and his negro servant together with other citizens of Ballston were surprised in their beds and taken prisoners by the British and Indians under Major Monroe. Capt. Elisha and his three sons fell to the lot of Capt. John leader of the Indians and were carried to Canada. In some time they were released and returned home at Ballston. Capt Elisha afterwards removed to Canada and died there August 26,1798.

Robert[4] (Judge Thomas[3], James[2], Thomas[1],) was born in Danbury, Conn. in 1744, married Sarah Ketchum. He was a commissary in the Revolution, settled at Milton, Saratoga Co., N.Y. soon after the Revolution and a few years after removed to Charlton where he died in 1828.

Jemima[4] (Judge Thomas[3], James[2], Thomas[1],) married Joseph Hamilton who was a Revolutionary soldier.

Mindwell[4] (Judge Thomas[3], James[2], Thomas[1],) married Silas Hamilton a farmer residing in the north part of the town of Danbury. On the 26th of April 1777 after dinner Silas having heard that the British troops were approaching, resolved to save a piece of woolen cloth belonging to him which had been for some time in the hands of a clothier in the south part of the village, rode into town, took his cloth from the clothier, and had tied one end of the piece behind the saddle as the advanced guard of the enemy made their appearance at the south end of Main Street. He mounted his horse and put spurs to him. Three troopers, well mounted, immediately started in pursuit. In running their horses about one hundred rods, they overtook him, and shouted, "Stop old daddy,""not yet" said the old gentleman, and again whipped up his horse. The nearest trooper then aimed a blow at him with his sword, but at that moment the cloth partially unrolling one end of it fluttered in the breeze as if it were a giant ribbon. The flying cloth frightened the trooper's horses and made them uncontrolable, thus giving the old gentleman several rods the start. They pursued him again for the distance of more than a mile, but whenever they came within striking distance, the flying end of the cloth was in their way, and the old gentleman, having resolutely determined not to surrender himself or to lose his cloth, finally escaped with the cloth out of the sight of the British pursuers. (Robbins Century Sermon, P. 26.)

Caleb[5] (Capt.Elisha[4], Judge Thomas[3], James[2], Thomas[1],) was born Sept.27,1758 at Norfolk, Conn. He was Captain and aid to Gen. Gansevoort in Revolutionary War, taken prisoner at Fort Keyser, Oct.17,1780, and released May 21,1783. He removed to Toronto, Canada where he died about 1800.

After the Revolution he sailed from Boston to Turk's Island and returned via Philadelphia to Danbury where he married and moved to Saratoga Co., N.Y. He died Aug.17,1845 at Italy Hill,Yates Co.,N.Y. (Thankful Benedict was Thaddeus' sister.)

He served as a militia man three months near the close of the Revolutionary War, was stationed at West Point when Gen. Washington with Count deRochambeau, a French officer, crossed the Hudson on his expedition against Lord Cornwallis. He died at West Perth Jan.5,1838.

Thaddeus[5] (Thaddeus[4], Judge Thomas[3], James[2], Thomas[1],) was born Aug.14,1749, married July 12,1775 Deborah, dau. Col. John Read of Reading, Conn. Her father was a Revolutionary officer.

Peter[5] (Thaddeus[4], Judge Thomas[3], James[2], Thomas[1],) married Dec.22,1779 Anne, dau. of Rachel(Hoyt) and Abijah Peck. Mr. Peck was a lineal descendant of Henry Peck who was among the first settlers of New Haven, Conn. in 1638 and died there in 1651. Anne died Dec.20,1846 in the 85th year of her age, and Peter died Oct.2,1835. They were both buried in the old Danbury Cemetery near the grave of Thaddeus? Anne's father, Abijah Peck, was a powerful and brawny armed blacksmith and worked in his shop in the corner of Main and South Streets where the old Revolutionary Episcopal Church was moved to the same spot. The church has been converted into a dwelling house now standing. On the 26th of April 1777 while the British troops were approaching Mr. Peck's family left their dwelling house and concealed themselves out of the village. When the British arrived at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, they roughly rushed into his house, and occupied all the rooms, drank much cider in the cellar, greedily consumed all the provisions in the dairy, stole clothes out of the closets and bureaus, threw valuable articles out of the windows, tore books and threw them on the floor. While it rained the British troops rudely crowded into Mr. Peck's shop to warm themselves, and Mr. Peck could not drive them out. Gen. Erskine, a half-drunk British officer commanded him to shoe his horse but he did not pay Mr. Peck and rode away. On Monday, April 28, 1777, in the morning Gen. Erskine came to the shop and insulted Mr. Peck by saying that he would burn the house and shop if he were not a Tory. Mr. Peck coolly took a thick board and put it on the side of the shop in sight of the British soldiers in red coats; and he asked Gen. Erskine and his soldiers if any of them could break the board. Gen. Erskine, whose countenance beamed with contemptuous cheerfulness, asked Mr. Peck if he was able to strike the board once and break it. Mr. Peck answered him in the affirmative, and then asked him if he would give him a promise that his house and shop would not be set on fire after his having broken the board once. Gen. Erskine answered him that he would. Then Mr. Peck commanded Gen. Erskine and his soldiers one by one to strike the board once. They all endeavored to break the board but they failed. At last Mr. Peck showed to the British his brawny arm and muscular hand as if it were an iron hammer. He swinging his arm round and round struck the board once and broke it into pieces. All the soldier's eyes were open wide with astonishment. Gen. Erskine kept his promise. After the British left Danbury his family returned home from the place where they had secreted themselves. Anne(Peck)Benedict often told her children and grandchildren interesting stories about her father.

He was discharged Dec.13,1775, reappointed and taken prisoner in Nov.1776 at Fort Washington on the Hudson River. He appears to have been appointed captain three times, receiving the last appointment Nov.1776. Hinmans says "that at the time he was taken prisoner one half of his company being with him, were also taken, the other half then being in Fort Lee on the other bank of the Hudson." The prisoners excepting officers were confined in the Sugar house in New York. The cruelties inflicted upon them are the theme of conversation among their relatives of this day. The details of the suffering was communicated to their friends by the survivors. Sergt. Jonah Benedict and Stephen Bump and Co.Joseph Barnum, the father of one of these sufferers learned from them that for many days, his son having been deprived of food and drink, literally died of hunger in the act of attempting to bite a brick had a piece in his mouth. Nancy[5] (Joseph[4], Joseph[3], John[2], Thomas[1],) was born 1756. It is said of her that she was superior in education to those around her, and that she was constantly teaching her neighbors to read and write. In 1776, when Gen. Howe advanced northward from New York, she mounted her horse, and with other heroic women, followed the army and witnessed the battle of White Plains. Joseph[4] lived near the "neutral grand," and had in his emoloy one David Williams, who, when not engaged in military service (the whigs who encountered the "Cowboys" in their excursions into the country were generally in the militia service on short enlistments,) made the house of his employer his welcome home. Thus it happened that Williams was enjoying an agreeable tete-a-tete with Nancy Benedict in the fall of 1780 when she pointed out to him a small company of armed men approaching their village. They entered an inn nearby, and Williams, having recognized Isaac VanWart, John Paulding and others, they set out together for Tarrytown; the especial object of Williams being to reclaim the property of a neighbor, the widow Pelham, or avenge the death of her husband, killed the night before by a part of Cowboys. At Tarrytown Williams, Paulding and his cousin, VanWart, separated from their companions, taking the east road at an angle of which they concealed themselves, obtaining a north and west view of it for some distance. The approach of Major André, his arrest, etc. followed. Congress having granted Williams, Nov.3,1780, a medal, a yearly annuity of $200, in specie, or an equivalent in current money, during life, also, the privilege of locating any confiscated lands in the county of Westchester, to the value of $1,250, or of receiving the said sum in cash. He married Nancy Benedict and with the $1,250 bought a part of the farm owned by his father-in-law and settled upon it, erecting a log cabin to live in. In the fall of 1830 he visited the city of New York on the invitation of the corporation, to be present as a guest at the celebration of the French Revolution. Here he received all manner of attentions, and was presented with a silver cuo, a silver-headed cane, an elegant horse, carriage and harness. He died at Broome, Schoharie Co., N. Y. Aug.2,1831. After her husband had been dead ten years, Mrs. Williams obtained a continuance of his pension, which had been stopped at his death receiving $2000 at once, She died about 1848 in her 92nd year. (Simm's Schocharie Count, etc. P. 649.) Nancy had two brothers, Lewis and Ambrose who were both patriots in the Revolution. Major John Paulding's granddaughter was Sarah Jane Ingersoll who married Charles Peck Benedict who descended from James[2] Benedict. Mr. Paulding captured Major Andre' in 1780.

During the Revolutionary war he performed considerable service in the American army. He served at least one enlistment in the Continental army, in the campaign of 1777, on the northern frontier; but the most of his service was rendered in the county of his residence, Westchester. Living near what was then called the "Lines" or neutral ground between the British army in N.Y. city and the American armies in the interior, they were constantly in danger from the raids of the British army, and the depredation of "Cowboys" as they were called. He belonged to a company of organized militia, called "minute-men," who were obliged to be in readiness to march at a moment's notice and in the capacity did much service. He was a member of the guard over Major André during a portion of the time of his confinement, trial and execution. He was appointed Ensign, May 4,1780, Lieut. June 24,1786 and caotain March 8, 1791. (Hinman Conn. in the Rev.)

ried April 24,1788 Hannah Keeler and died June 20,1835. He served in the Revolution as Sergeant 1780 in Capt. Olmstead's Co., Col. Beebe's Regt. on the lines near Horseneck.

Hezekiah Betts, was a Revolutionary soldier and died May 31,1827 (Hall's Record of Norwalk P. 212.) Betty's father Thomas was remarkable for the great power of his voice. It is stated on credible authority that he could be heard and understood at the distance of more than a mile.(Hall Rec.P.316)

Thomas[5] (Thomas[4] Thomas[3] Thomas[2] Thomas[1]) was born Feb.25,1725-6. His house, store and cider-mill were destroyed July 11, 1779 when the British under Gen. Tryon burned Norwalk. He died Feb. 21, 1802.

J., took the disease, and died soon after returning home. His son, Daniel, was born in 175-, a soldier in the revolutionary army and died of camp fever at Bergen Point, N. J.

Thomas[6] (Thomas[5] Thomas[4] Thomas[3] Thomas[2] Thomas[1],) was born March 14,1765. (Hall History of Norwark P.174-177,) gives some of Mr. B's reminiscences of the burning of Norwalk by the British. Mr. B. says they came on a Saturday while the people were harvesting. Our soldiers collected fast, and stopped to drink wine on the stoop of his father's house. The family packed up their goods hastily, and took refuge that night at Belden's Hill. A party of light horse came in the night, and in the morning they saw the smoke rising from Norwalk. The house where Mr. B. lived (1847) was used as a hospital by the British, was set on fire when the retreat commenced, but the people rallied and saved it from the flames. Mrs. Benedict, who lived at Roton River, saw the fleet coming from Long Island. She remembered that one night her mother courageously gave the alarm when the Tories were stealing the cattle. A Tory fired at her mother and Mrs. B. heard the ball whistle. Thomas died Jan. 5, 1852 aged 87 years.

Hannah[5] (Thomas[4] Thomas[3] Thomas[2] Thomas[1]) was born in Norwalk, Conn.,Dec. 13,1733, married Oct.1,1753 John Carter and died Feb.22,1780 (Hall P.234.) When the town of Norwalk was destroyed by the British on the 11th of July 1779, the Benedict homestead was one of the few houses that was left standing on account of its being used that day by the British for their wounded soldiers. Before leaving the place, however, the British set the house on fire but timely aid saved it from destruction. In this historic house Hannah, the subject of this sketch, was born in 1733 and here in 1753 she married John Carter who was a descendant of Samuel Carter, a progenitor of the Carter Family in America who was born in England about 1665. In the year 1776 he served as first lieutenant in Capt. Daniel Benedict's Co. 9th Regt. of the Conn. Militia in New York. Under a subsequent organization of the state militia, the following season, 1776-1777, this company was continued in the command of Lieut. John Carter, Gen. Wooster commanding, and in the following March John Carter was apoointed Captain. In Feb. 1780 Mrs. Carter, having prepared a breakfast for the soldiers, stood in the front porch of the house and watched them as they rode away. She was soon after taken ill with a congestive chill, which was followed by apoplexy, and in a few hours her useful life came to an end. Her death occurred on the 22nd of February 1780. (Chapter Sketches Conn. Daughterss of the American Revolution, P. 315-320 by Mrs. Cornelia Carter Comstock.)

109.Caleb[6], (James[5], Caleb[4], John[3], John[2], Thomas[1],) (Following from New Canaan Society Annual of June 1955,)b.July 7,1783. #34 James Madison's youngest son, Caleb, was the last of the family to occupy the old homestead. Caleb,like the Caleb of old,whose namesake he was,was a man of faith and action and "wholly followed the Lord." At the age of 18 he married Ellis,dau.of Hezekiah St.John & Phoebe Keeler. Their union was blessed by 15 children. Upon his tombstone,"on the brow of the hill" in Lakeview Cem.,appears the laconic legend--"Leaving 14 children all having families."

From about 1810 to 1842 he gave his entire attention to the manufacture of shoes and after retiring from active business he continued to make a few until about 1854. His son,John,born 1812,remembered among his apprentices the names of Henry Selleck and his two brothers George & Sidney, also the name of Harvey Monroe,father of L.M.Monroe who founded the Monroe Drug Store (now Cody's) in 1854. Henry Selleck became a skilled craftsman, and the story is told of his coming into the shop with a lot of shoes he had been bottoming and saying, "I want 12 pairs of uppers and bottom stuff for I am going to put bottoms on 12 pairs of shoes tomorrow." Caleb said,"You can't do it. If you do you will slight them." Henry replied,"I can do it and you will pass them." The next night Henry brought them in and Caleb passed them without hesitation. With his apprentices and some outside workmen Caleb commenced to manufacture on a small scale. Increasing in apprentices and outside workmen he found it necessary to enlarge his quarters. He built a larger shop back and east of the house. His family of sons were put to learning the trade. He had as many as 100 men working for him and 40 boys living with him and learning the trade.

His youngest son,Benjamin,(b.1824,) remembered the names of Eber & James Stevens,Robert P.Bouton,Edwin Seymour,Alonzo Keeler,Joseph Scofield,William Dunning,Robert Scott,John Scofield,Richard Beers, William Fitch & Charles Jessup. With so large a family of his own & so many apprentices and boys he had to adopt a most thorough and rigid government policy. His rules & regulations were laws that could not be ignored. This secured peace & harmony through the family.

His trade had run almost entirely into making pegged shoes, he being the first in this section of the country to make that kind of a shoe for the N.Y.market. It came about in this way. A man from Albany was visiting New Canaan, and learning of the Benedict shoe industry, he called at the shop. He said a shoemaker in Albany had trouble with several shoes ripping among the lime-burners. The lime would rot the stitches and rip badly, so the shoemaker put a row of wooden pegs inside the stitches. The shoes ripped as before but the pegs held the soles till they were worn through. On the strength of this, Caleb made a few without sewing the soles and they wore to the uppers without ripping. He sent some to N.Y.to the store of Matthew Reed, who had married one of his nieces. Reed hung them up in his store window as a "curiosity," but the people wanted to buy them, so Reed wrote to make up 3 or 4 dozens. They took so well and sold so fast that Reed ordered as many as he could make, saying,"They took so well that the people would laugh at you if you offered them sewed shoes." In the meantime the shoemaker in Albany got out a patent for making peg shoes. He learned that they were being made by Benedict so he came to see him and sold him the right to make them in Fairfield County.

In the making of peg shoes in those early days, the pegs were cut by hand. Caleb bought soft maple wood, free from knots, by the cord, had the bark peeled off while in the sap. The sticks ran from 4 to 6 feet long and 5 to 8 inches in diameter. He put it in the wagonhouse to season and after being there 2 or 3 months it was ready for use. He used to sell sticks of peg-wood to the workmen at various prices according to size. They would saw off blocks from a half to an inch thick, either for light or heavy soles. They would then take a thick, heavy knife, split off slats, thick or thin for stout or small pegs. The slats were beveled off on both sides of one edge for the points of the pegs, and the other edge was shaved off square for the heads so as to drive well. Then with a sharp knife they would split them for small or stout pegs. After some practice they would split them with great rapidity and would make enough for a pair of shoes in five minutes. Before Caleb gave up business peg work largely declined. An impression became prevalent that peg shoes were not as comfortable as sewed shoes and also some trouble developed from careless workmen using to small pegs for the size of the awl, with the result that the shoes ripped badly. Caleb said that the patent specified that square pegs should be used after a round awl with a sharp point like a needle. When they were made this way they would not rip, but after a while the workers got to pegging them with a flat pointed awl or "chisel point," as he called it, and using a diamond peg. They looked better but they did not hold. He said the flat pointed awl cut the leather causing the pegs to draw out of the insole and they quickly pulled to pieces.

261.Caleb St.John[7], (Caleb[6], James[5], Caleb[4], John[3], John[2], Thomas[1],) (The following taken from "New Canaan Society Annual of June 1955)b.Oct.28,1803. He was the eldest son of Caleb[6]. Attended the old red schoolhouse in the Lockwood District,at junction of Laurel Rd.& Canoe Hill Rd.,& was trained in the trade of his father. He remembered the War of 1812 and was proud to have shaken the hand of General Lafayette in Norwalk as he was on his way from N.Y.to Boston. He was 21 yrs.of age & was a drummer in the old military band which serenaded the general during his stop in Norwalk. Soon after becoming of age he came over into the village to "cut" for Frederick Ayres, who had a shop on Main St. on the site of the present Ferrera building, and as he had not enough work to occupy all of his time he bought a little stock and commenced to manufacture for himself.

On November 9, 1826 he married Hannah Elizabeth, dau. of Deacon William Crissey & Polly Mills of Ponus St. and on July 13,1827, with his bride, moved into the new house where they lived out their lives and where their 11 children were born. He was active in civic affairs, and during his lifetime served in all the prominent offices of the town and many minor ones. He represented the town in the legislature during the years 1866 & 1872 and presented the petition for the charter of New Canaan Railroad in 1866. Prior to the building of the railroad from N.Y.to New Haven (1844) all manufactured goods were taken to N.Y. by wagon or Darien or Norwalk and thence to N.Y. by ship. After the "main line" was completed the various N.Canaan manufacturers were keenly interested in the building of the branch line to Stamford,and although all those who subscribed for stock in the project lost their money, they felt that investing was worthwhile. In Feb. 1875 the Benedict building was destroyed by a disastrous fire which originated in a small building next door. A modern, steam-heated building, said to be the first brick structure ever erected in New Canaan, was completed in Oct. This building was raised in 1953 to make way for a new block built for stores and the law offices of the owner, Louis L. Bucciarelli. CH.

282.Aaron[5], (Gideon[4], Joseph[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b.Dec.6,1740 New Milford,Conn., m.Nov.21,1759 Elizabeth Knowles,b.Feb.20,1741 Dartmouth,Mass,d.Aug.15, 1821. He d.July 25,1816 at Bennington,Ohio & was first person to be buried in Pennsylvania Township,Morrow Co.,Ohio. After his father's death was brought up by his grandfather,Joseph, and has been erroneously considered Joseph's son. As he was only 15 years old when Joseph died a guardian was appointed for him. The marriage record of Aaron & Elizabeth occupies a whole page in the Record Book of Oblong Monthly Meeting and was signed, after themselves by William Knowles (her father,) Innocent Knowles (her mother,) Arthur Knowles (her brother,) Dorothy Benedict (his mother or sister,) and ten others. Aaron was living in New Milford in 1777 when permission to hold a Preparatory Meeting there was given by the Monthly Meeting at Oblong,Dutchess Co.,N.Y. He was one of the delegates to the Monthly Meeting and on May 6,1779 he and three others were appointed to inquire into the number of books belonging to the Meeting. They reported 29. When the meeting house was built at Lanesville in 1788 Aaron was one of the members. In 1812 they joined a large company of Quakers to settle on the Western Reserve in Ohio. It was composed of about 67 persons of three generations, all relatives or friends. On the way they were joined by the Lewis family from Redstone,Pa.and all settled in Morrow County. Aaron, his son,Reuben,and three other families settled Peru Township, named for their old home in N.Y. A certificate of removal was given to Aaron and Elizabeth and their children,Cyrus,William, Sylvester,Anne,Elizabeth & Hannah to the Monthly Meeting at Danby. Aaron's grave can still be seen in the Friend's Cemetery there.

17.Gideon,b.Mar.15,1710 Norwalk,Conn.,m.Apr.11,1737 Dorothy,dau.Samuel & Dorothy(Plum)Prindle of New Milford,Conn.,b.Jan.19,1706/7 and had married Mar.19,1734 Elnathan Botsford of New Milford. Apparently no children by him. Gideon lived near New Milford & paid 10 sh. a year to pass the toll gate. He died intestate on Aug.17,1748. His widow, Dorothy, and her brother,Daniel,were appointed administrators of his estate by Probate Court of Woodbury. Dorothy married a third time.

(The following information has been obtained concerning Joseph[3].)

4.Joseph,m.1st.Anne,who died at the birth of her 4th child,Dec.9,1716 at Ridgefield,Conn.,m.2nd.Mar.21,1720 Mary Groom Pitman (or Pittman.) After living a few years in Ridgefield he moved to Newtown, near New Milford. In 1733 he bought from Joseph Ruggles a whole right-of-land in North New Milford Township where he built a house. It lay on the west branch of Wauccoe Creek at Shepaug Neck. On Dec.9,1734 was excused from paying his "Minister's rate" in Newtown for the four months of winter in case a minister was called to Shepaug in the spring. It was nearly 30 years before the other church was built. In 1739 he joined the church in New Milford by letter from Newtown. In 1751 he gave 16 acres of land near Cranberry Swamp to his son, Jonathan, and the same amount east of the swamp to his son, Samuel Pittman. In his will, proved Aug.4,1755, he names all of his children except Ezra & John, appoints a guardian for Aaron, son of his son, Gideon, deceased, and orders his son, Jonathan, to pay 20 sh. each to the heirs of Gideon. The will is on file in Woodbury, Conn.

The log house in which he first lived no longer stands, but the double-plank house previously built upon the land where Alva was born stands behind and to the north of the 80 year old homestead in which most of the Benedicts have spent their lives. A third house of Alva's is located 40 ft. north of the large white frame house. As a boy he enjoyed the "Ol' swimmin Hole." He with his collie "Ted" often went down the lane for the cows. His grandfather offered them a horse if they would come and get it. His father and he were 5 days on the return journey. His father used oxen in his farm work. He often rode horseback balancing two sacks of corn on his saddle to Ft.Brown where the meal was ground. They often rode horses to Paulding to pay taxes. "It was always a full days trip," Alva said. The family reunion was held for many years across from the Quaker Church near Cardington,O. The family first drove a spring wagon and later a buggy and the trip took at least 3 days. Member of the Paulding Co. Farm Bureau and Methodist Church at Oakwood. He is still living on the homestead in 1961 and active in farm work at age 80 yrs. R.,Ft.Brown Rd.,Oakwood,Ohio CH.

296.Daniel[7], (Cyrus[6], Aaron[5], Gideon[4], Joseph[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b.May 15,1814,m. Apr.24,1833 Content,dau.John & Malissa Shaw at Cardington,O.,b.Feb.12, 1814. Removed to Winnebago Co.,Wis. & after 3 yrs. returned to Morrow Co.,O. In 1869 removed to Marshall Co.,Ia., in 1883 to Wash.Co.,Kans., in 1894 to Emporia,Kans. where on May 29,1896 his wife, Content, d. and is buried in Maplewood Cem. She was a regularly licensed doctor having descended from a long line of physicians and surgeons. Her diagnosis and skill in practice placed her in the front rank of the State of Ohio. She was called in consultation on important cases into several adjoining states. They had two children, the 2nd. died in infancy, and no other death occured in the family for over 65 yrs. when the wife and mother was summoned in her 85th year after a remarkable career as mother, doctor and friend to humanity. She was descended from the well known Scotch family of Shaw who were connected with the great woolen factories of Edinborough & Glasgow. At this writing, Sept.6,1929, the woolen factories are still flourishing. In their last years they were members of the Friends Yearly Meeting at Oskaloosa,Ia. He, however, organized the Group of a Sect who called themselves, "The United Brethren," and furnished the lumber and helped to erect the first church in Shawtown, a cross roads village, five miles southwest of Cardington, O. He was elected their first class leader and preached the Gospel to the Organization on many occasions. He died Jan.27,1899 at Emporia,Kansas. (William Gridley Benedict, his nephew, said in a letter of Oct.13,1915 that he rode up to his brother,Sylvester's, and said, "Susie, I want breakfast, (he always called her Susie) tell Sylvester to hitch up old Rone to the sled and go down into the woods just over the fence and there he will find two bucks which I have just shot, bring them up." He was a great hunter and also had a turkey call.) CH.

322.Fenton E.[7] (Ezra[6], Ezra[5], Jonathan[4], Joseph[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b.July 19,1841, m.? who d.1923. On his 100th birthday he went for his usual walk. Despite his years he still walks a block each pleasant day. Although his health is good, his eyesight has failed and the last year has been unable to read (1941.) His hearing is worse and he seldom tries to carry on a conversation. Reading was his favorite pastime. In 1861, at the age of 20 yrs., he joined a wagon train to Calif. From Calif. he traveled in a sailing ship to Panama, crossed the Isthmus on horseback and then by boat to N.Y.C. He came to DesMoines,Iowa where his parents had moved. From the years 1907 to 1914 he lived on a claim in Wyoming. Since then he has been a carpenter in Des-Moines,Ia. When asked if there was any secret of long living, he removed his pipe and smiled and replied, "Not a thing." He lives with his daughter, Mrs. A. B. Schuetz,1914-8th St.,DesMoines.(no ret.)

331.Loren[7], (Aaron[6], Aaron[5], Thomas[4], James[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b.Sept.19,1811 Attica,N.Y. The family traces its ancestry to the settlement of Salem, Mass. and is of English origin. Aaron Benedict, grandfather of the above was a Pres. minister until he was 70 years of age. He was also a soldier in the Revolutionary War and was at the side of the lamented Warren at Bunker Hill when it was demonstrated to the satisfaction of incredulous Britons that Yankees would fight. He settled after the war in Sangerfield,Oneida Co.,N.Y. and died at the age of 93 at Harvard,N.Y. His son, Aron, married Achsch Foster and about 1804 located at Attica, N.Y. purchasing 80 acres on Wells Hill, near the center of town. About 1820 he exchanged places with Grove Cooley and moved to Cortland Co.,N.Y.

Loren Benedict was the third in a family of ten children. Remained at home until he attained his maturity, then worked a short time for monthly wages and at the age of 23 set his face toward Michigan, coming via the Erie Canal to Buffalo where he took water passage to Detroit. The vessel was wrecked off Erie, Pa. on the night of Nov. 22, 1834, stranded on a sandbar. The boat was the steamer "Columbus" and had 400 passengers on board who were all safely landed in the morning. Mr. Benedict finished the trip to Detroit by stage. He proceeded to Rochester, Oakland Co., and resided near that place two years assisting his brother-in-law in making improvements and putting in grain. He was lost at night on one occasion while searching for the cattle. He only knew which way to find home by wetting his finger and holding it up to ascertain the direction of wind.

On Feb. 15,1838 he proceeded to Flat River with a load of pork and crossed on a skiff to the cabin of Ambrose Spencer, spent the day looking at land and purchased at Cook's Corners, in the township of Otisco, Ionia Co., Mich. 160 acres. His money was of that uncertain breed known as "Wildcat," and he returned to Pontiac and disposed of it ($200) in the purchase of two yokes of oxen. In less then two weeks the said money was worthless. He sold his cattle the following spring, receiving gold in payment and on foot journeyed to his land in Otisco, erected a cabin, and began improvements. In December he again returned to Pontiac where on the 1st of January 1839 he married Paulina Adgate, dau. of Abel and Polly Adgate and took her to his wilderness home. In 1846 he disposed of his place and moved to his farm in Berlin and Orange townships, Ionia Co. This purchase had upon it a log house and a farm barn but little other improvement and the labor necessarily expended upon it was great. Today it is in excellent condition and additions have been made until it now consists of 400 acres including the residences of his sons George, Abel, Emerson and Philo. They also had Emeline who is now Mrs. Henry Sprague of Easton.

Mrs. Benedict died Dec. 7, 1872 and her loss was deeply mourned by her family and a large circle of friends and relatives. Mr. Benedict was a Jefferson Democrat. In his private life he was honest and upright and those who knew him testify to his worth as a friend and neighbor and business man while the destitute and needy have cause to remember his many acts of kindness and charity towards them.

The firm was extensively known as "The only exclusive slipper house in America," and later moved to 85 Reade St. where they carried nearly 400 different styles of slippers for all ages, many of which were made in New Canaan. Silk embroidered plush and alligator skin in different colors were much in vogue in the early 1880's and are featured in the advertisements of the firm. 352. Andrew Cowles[7], (Andrew[6], Nathaniel[5], Nathaniel[4], John[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b. Jan.17,1828,m.Maria Amelia Farnham who d. of consumption 10 months later,m.2nd.Helen Maria Hoyt May 12,1852. His father, Andrew, b. June 21,1772 m.1st.Sally Brown at So.Norwalk,Conn. Sept.1793 and at once moved to Chenango Co.,N.Y. 350 miles with one yoke of oxen and cart, one cow and one horse. Traveled over 100 miles by marked trees as the country was inhabited by Indians and wild animals. The government had surveyed this section of N.Y.S. and had set off certain sections for the soldiers of the Revolution as a bounty. His father, Nathaniel, b.Mar.26,1744 served as Sgt. in Conn.Continental Line in Capt. Seth Seymour's Co. in 1776. He was at Danbury, Fairfield and Norwalk. Served on seacoast guard throughout the war and died at Norwalk. He received bounty land and gave it to his sons Andrew and James Nathaniel who were married about the same time. They set out to their new home, at that time called "far West." (I think quite a bridal town.) Their home was about 40 miles south of Syracuse, then only a few families of white people, now a city of 150,000 and 40 miles east of Ithaca, N.Y. and 5 miles to the nearest settlement of a white family. These neighbors of which consisted of six white families turned out and helped them cut trees and build a house in one day. They slept in the house the first night after the first tree was cut. At that time of the year leaves were falling fast and were used for beds instead of feathers and springs.

Andrew C. related these facts to his grand-daughter,Lulu, in a letter dated June 10,1910: "I will give you a little of the way my father told me of how they lived. There was no wheat flour and little rye flour and corn meal. The meal was made by pounding the corn on the top of a hard wood stump that he hollowed out like a bowl and used a pestle of very hard wood to pound it. The meal was sifted and then made in a cake called "Johnny Cake." The coursest of the pounded corn was boiled and called samp. They had plenty of wild meat: venison, wild geese and wild turkeys in abundance. Their clothing and shoes were made from bear and wolf skins. Wolves were very numerous and troublesome at night. They did their own tanning using squirrel skin for sewing thread which was tanned with the hair off and cut as small as it could be. The most of the hides were tanned with the hair on as it made very warm clothing. They gathered a great many nuts: chestnuts, butternuts and beechnuts. It was no trouble to get fish at Chenango Forks but that was from 18 to 20 miles away. They went to the Post Office twice a year at which time they got lots of fish and salted them down. I think they lived as the Indians did in those days. My grandfather, Nathaniel's home was always in Norwalk, Conn. His house and everything on his premises were burned by the British Army during the Revolutionary War. All of the village was burned except one house and that was saved by an old colored man. Soon after the burning of Norwalk my grandfather enlisted and served until the close of the war." Andrew[6] m.2nd.Sally Stankliff who d. Aug.23,1823,m.3rd.Anna Gannet. 356.William Henry[8], (Rev.William Uriah[7], Uriah[6], Nathaniel[5], Nathaniel[4], John[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b.June 25,1835,m.Sept.23,1858 Josephine S.,dau.Daniel B. Barber. Sheriff of Eaton Co.,Mich in 1865 for 2 terms. He had several interesting experiences during his life time. One was published on July 26,1865 in the "Charlotte Republican." He was a warden at the jail at Charlotte,Mich. On the night of July 25,1865, while locking the cells two of the prisoners, Harwood and Thompson, hit him on the head with a club stunning him for an instant. As they were making their escape, Sheriff Benedict recovered himself firing at Thompson, and if not hit he was barely missed in the darkness, as the bullet mark on the door plainly indicated. Thompson was later recovered by Sheriff Benedict near Eaton Rapids where he was found drying a load of stolen wood. Harwood was never captured. On another occasion he captured an army deserter who had been sought by several posses sent out from Grand Rapids. When Sheriff Benedict heard that a reward would be offered for him, dead or alive, he proceeded to make the capture. The man was found armed with a gun in a lumber camp near Jackson, Mich. The Sheriff dressed in workman's clothes, found the man hunting game in a secluded part of the woods, and saundered up to him asking what make of gun he had. He asked this question in such an off-hand way that his intended prisoner unsuspectingly handed it over for examination. Sheriff Benedict aimed the weapon at a nearby tree, fired it off and in this manner completely disarmed his man. Drawing his own revolver he demanded a surrender and in this way made the arrest before the fellow fully realized what had occurred. A short time later he emerged from the woods with his prisoner securely handcuffed. These narratives are but a few of the many that could be written about this interesting and remarkable personage. It was taken from an article written in 1915 by R.V.Neal, printer of the Vermontville "Echo." At this time Mr. Benedict was still living showing remarkable vitality and excellent memory. CH.

Through his father's efforts he was made an orderly despite his youth. During off-duty visits to the U.S.National Museum he became interested in biology. After the war he attended Union Coll. in Schenectady, N.Y. receiving his B.S. & M.S. Degrees in 1884. Two years later he was made resident Naturalist on the steamer "Albatross" of the U.S. Fish Comm. for a three year voyage from Nova Scotia to South America for scientific study. After the cruise he was made Ass't.Curator of marine invertebrates at the National Museum. In 1909 he became Chief of Biological Exhibits. In 1892 he had received his Phd. from Union Coll. During this period he contributed numerous natural history articles to scientific publications. While on the voyage of the Albatross he became interested in navigational sounding tubes then in use. Later he invented and made machinery for an improved instrument in his own laboratory in Silver Springs,Md. These tubes were widely used by the navy, marine corps and coast and Geodetic Survey through W.W.II. Silver Soldiers

Little dimes are silver soldiers,
Straight to war they all should go,
Always are these soldiers needed
In this war on polio.

Would you hide your silver soldiers?
Could you say I will not give?
Wont you help these crippled children?
Trying hard so hard to live.

Salk vaccine still greatly doubted
Cures dismayingly too slow
Send your dimes for research brother,
Till they conquer polio. CH.

387. Samuel Seward[7], (Graham[6], Samuel[5], Jonathan[4], Joseph[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b. Jan.30,1821. He always lived on the home farm at Perry, N.Y. Owing to an injury in youth he was somewhat handicapped. Always faithful in duty doing according to his ability the numerous chores about the place. When able he was found in the House of Worship on the Sabbath Day. He read the Bible through about three times. He d.Feb.6,1897. Unmarried.

388. Charles Jay[7], (Graham[6], Samuel[5], Jonathan[4], Joseph[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b.Mar. 20,1823. Around 1848 he decided to go to Vermont to visit relatives. While there he met Florilla Hurd, dau. of Samuel[6], son of Ichabod[5] (51) Benedict,b.Oct.11,1828 of Arlington, Vt. A mutual love developed and they were married on Jan.24,1850. They came to Perry and resided on the farm with his father, Graham, whose health was not equal to working the farm. Due to lack of space elsewhere will add here data concerning Graham (144) which was written by his grand-daughter, Hattie Benedict Silver, of Perry Center, N.Y.

"In the early winter of 1815 Graham and Lucy left Manchester to find a home in what was called, "The West." An ox team hitched to a sled was the conveyance that carried their worldly goods. They came to Lima, N.Y. where they spent one year. In 1816 they came to Perry and took up a tract of 160 acres one mile north of Perry Center. At this time the trees were marked for the road but none were cut. Graham cleared a small lot and put up a log house. The first winter they used bed quilts and rag carpets for doors; sometimes they would look up and see an Indian head peering into the window. They put in a fireplace where all the cooking was done in kettles hung from the crane or in hot ashes or coals. Later Graham built a frame house with a large fireplace and brick oven where the baking was done for years. This was where the good cornmeal bread was baked. Graham died Jan.13,1862. Lucy died Mar.23,1871."

At the time the Civil War broke out Charles Jay was drafted, but owing to the cares of the family developing upon him, he could not go, so hired a substitute for which he paid $500. "From 1869 until 1875 all the members of his family, ten in number, lived under one roof except one nephew." He resided on the homestead at Perry Center,N.Y. His life work was farming. He was one of the first to introduce Merino sheep into the Town of Perry. CH.

414.Rev.William Lewis[7], (William[6], James[5], James[4], James[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)m. Phoebe Burt of whom further: Phoebe Burt Benedict is distinguished in the Burt history as the parent of the largest number of children of any representative of the family except Henry Burt, whose offspring numbered nineteen. She was the mother of 16 children, (ten sons and six daughters,) and at the date of her death, Sept. 21,1890, left 14 children, 27 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren in the direct line, the latter being of the 10th generation from Henry Burt (1,) except two robust and patriotic sons who laid down their lives in the Union cause in 1862 and 1863, all of her children survived her and all were grown to manhood and womanhood.

She was born at Bellvale, Orange Co., N.Y., July 17,1817, and was the third daughter of Elizabeth Ketchum and Benjamin Burt, and one of thirteen children, seven of whom survive her. She was married on February 26, 1835, when less than eighteen years of age, to William Lewis Benedict, only son of Martha Wood and William Benedict. Early in the following spring she removed a distance of three miles from her birthplace to the home of her husband, near Warwick, N.Y., and there, as the wife of one who combined the occupations of farmer, teacher, public official and minister of the Gospel, she spent her happy and industrious life, and her spirit passed away in the room in which thirteen of her childrer had been born.

It is needless to say that the strongest physical and moral qualities were combined in such a rare example of motherhood. She was of full height, with an erect, graceful figure, regular and clear-cut features, abundant dark hair, which became a beautiful silver-gray in her latter years, light blue eyes, and a clear and ordinarily colorless complexion. In her youth she was deemed more than usually attractive in form and features, and in her age drew attention everywhere by her distinguished appearance. Her life was thoroughly domestic; she was a loving wife and devoted mother--cheerful, active and zealous in the highest degree. Her individuality, however, was strongly marked; and she possessed certain distinctive intellectual traits, one of the chief of which was an unswerving and somewhat austere faith in the Divine power. Indeed, her character was strongly religious, and she adhered with unshaken loyalty to the old school Baptist communion, which had been the faith of her forefathers, but no one ever possessed greater charity for the opinions of others. Her social nature was also strongly developed. Her sympathies were naturally warm and buoyant. She delighted in hospitality, and was never happier than when surrounded by numerous guests. She always found time to visit among her many friends and numerous relatives. She always manifested pride in her large family, which she ruled wisely, firmly and with a clear purpose to promote the highest good of each, without favoritism. She retained, during a married life of forty-eight years, the devoted love and unfaltering confidence of her husband, and she survived him for eight years, with gradually failing health. Her life was devoted to the duties which her large family imposed upon her. As her children grew up and were married her love and care followed them, and she was always with them in sickness and sorrow to aid and comfort. Her grandchildren shared her love and care. During the week preceding her death, her tenderest interest was manifested in the marriage of a grandson and the birth of a great-grandson. Such a life commemorates grateful love and tender remembrance from those who felt its' power. Her life's guiding objects were duty, religion and happiness. Within such a sphere, no life could have been more generous, devoted and successful.

416.Thomas Edsall,[8] (Rev.William Lewis,[7] William,[6] James,[5] James,[4] James,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1])b.Apr.3,1839 Warwick, New York,son Phoebe Burt Benedict, dau. of Benjamin Burt (6) and William L. Benedict who was seventh in descent from Thomas Benedict, who settled at Southhold, Long Island, N. Y. in 1638, and who was a member of the Representative Convention from that town in March 1665, held at Hempstead under authority of the English governor of N. Y. Thomas Edsall Benedict received an academic education and at the age of nineteen engaged in teaching, followed by a term as a railroad ticket agent and bookkeeper in an iron works. In 1870, associated with his brother, he founded the Ellenville, N. Y. Press, a Democratic weekly newspaper and conducted it successfully for a term of fourteen years, making it a business and political success in the community in which it was located. In 1879 he was elected to the Assembly by the Democrats of the third district of Ulster County and was elected for three succeeding years. He served with great satisfaction to his constituents and the State at large. He served three years on the committee of ways and means as chairman of the railroad committee and a member of several important investigating committees. He was a candidate for the office of Speaker of the Assembly in 1883 but failed to receive the nomination by one vote in the Democratic caucus.

Following the adjournment of the Legislature of that year, he lost his wife by a sudden illness, which affliction determined his retirement from legislative work. In 1883 he was permanent chairman of the Democratic state convention at Buffalo. The next year he accepted the position of Deputy State Comptroller by the comptroller-elect. In 1886 President Cleveland offered him without solicitation the position of public printer at Washington which was accepted with reluctance. In 1889 Pres. Harrison removed him from that office for reasons that were purely political. In 1890 he was offered the position of deputy secretary of State at Albany which he accepted and now fills. As public printer, Mr. Benedict instituted business reforms and improved methods which resulted in a large increase of public work at reduced cost to the government while also benefiting the government employees in increased earnings and comforts. Upon Mr. Cleveland's retirement from the presidency he thanked Mr. Benedict for the work he had accomplished as public printer saying, "You have accomplished as much in favor of good government methods as has been accomplished by any officer during my term of administration, if not more." State Comptroller Chapin, in his report for 1887, referred to Mr. Benedict's career as Deputy Comptroller in these words: "Mr. Benedict's energy, capacity and high sense of duty had won him a wide an enviable reputation as an administrative officer. His personal qualities secured the respect and earnest regard of his associates within his department. Wherever honest, warm-hearted manhood is appreciated he will find friends; wherever ideal uprightness and painstaking application are needed there will be work for him to do."
(Speech by Thomas Edsall Benedict at a "Burt" reunion.)
Brothers and Sisters,---I propose to be a little more familiar towards you than some of my kinsmen who have addressed you here. We have been gotten here by our kinsman, Henry M. Burt, with true Burt zeal and we propose to be right kindly and familiar towards each other. I did not expect to be called upon to speak here.

My uncle, Grinnell Burt, has already spoken for the Warwick, N. Y. branch of the Burt family, a branch which has probably been one of the most stable of the branches of the parent stock of this vicinity since the work of emigration commenced with the home circle. I feel that I am more of a Burt than a Benedict. Last evening my kinsman, Bradley Benedict Burt, and I sat up until midnight running over our family records, and we concluded that we were the purest blooded Burts of any one here assembled, and until claim can be successfully disputed we propose to hold to it.

My grand ancester on my father's side, Thomas Benedict, came to this country two years in advance of my grand ancestor, Henry Burt, on my mother's side. As a son of the largest branch of the descendants of Thomas Benedict, the father of all the Benedicts in America, I could come here and claim your fellowship and sympathy without the mention of my mother's name. I believe that Thomas Benedict and Henry Burt, the pioneers, were early friends after they erected their homes and established their families in America. Sarah Burt, a daughter of Henry Burt, married Judah Gregory, and two of the sons of Thomas Benedict, John and James, married nieces of Judah Gregory. My great ancestor, Thomas Benedict, was a witness to the will of John Gregory of this place, who was a brother of the husband of Sarah Burt Gregory.

Such close business and family relations as these could not have existed at that stage of family settlement without bringing the family circle of Burts and Benedicts into intimate association and knowledge of each other. In 1735 a great-great aunt of my father named Hannah Benedict married Daniel Burt, a son of Benjamin Burt, the captive, one of the original settlers of Ridgefield, Conn. This marriage made my mother a distant relative of my father. Since 1735 there have been seven marriages between the Burts and Benedicts.

Years before the Revolution they were established families at Warwick, N. Y., my birthplace. Here their relations, not only as a family have been the closest, but they have been close religious, social and political friends. My great-great grandfather, James Benedict, was the pastor of my great grandfather, James Burt, during and following the Revolutionary days. Thus I claim a relationship alone as one of the Benedict family to you, but as I look into your faces and recognize the marked characteristics of the Burt lineage, I see myself as if I were looking into my own looking glass, and I know the Burt blood runs in my own veins.

My mother of blessed memory, was a Burt, distinguished and honored in all the strong qualities of her ancestry, and whose virtues and worth I am proud to say have been continued in the lives of sixteen sons and daughters, all of whom are living today except two sons who gave their lives to their country during the War of 1861-5. Of whom or what can I speak to many of you with more interest and sympathy than of my mother. She died but two weeks ago in her home where my father took her as a bride over fifty-six years ago. Her home was also the "home roof tree" of her own brothers and sisters for many years, while they were young. Not one of the Burts from afar ever visited Warwick but those who did come were received with a joyous welcome by her. The last time I saw her I spoke to her of these visits, and spoke to her of my hopes of her being able to attend here. Her sweet face and dignified and graceful form is missing, and many here with me miss her, as one whose presence would have added additional pleasure and interest to our gathering.

Now let me bespeak for an effort to be made to the end that our meeting may not be lost sight of in the future. Let some permanent memorial be made of our assemblage. In whatever form it be best, I agree I will assist in any way, and I trust I may be able to act in accord with some well directed effort to be agreed upon before we part.

Thomas Edsall Benedict married first Frances M. Freer (nee) Akerly. He married second Eva Ford (nee) Dutcher. He died about 1926. The children are all by his first wife. CH.

Studied and practiced holding the Office of Att'y. Gen. of Ohio. Convert of Alexander Campbell, branch of Baptist known as Campbellites or Dis. of Christ. Became an Evangelist and established churches East & South. He was arrested during Civil War for discouraging enlistments, the charge being made because his "text" the previous Sunday had been "Christ's Sermon on the Mount." Discharged on the first hearing in Buffalo. Kidnapped and confined in the old Capital-Prison at Washington with Vallandingham and others, his family not knowing where he was, he finally brought up before Judge Holt and discharged without a hearing. He was offered the nomination for Gov. of N.Y. after this but refused and took the stump for his friend, Horatio Seymour, in 1852 when Seymour, the Democrat, overthrew the Whigs in Albany and at the same time he elected a democratic President Franklin Pierce. 550.Joseph Irving[8], (Caleb S.[7], Caleb[6], James[5], Caleb[4], John[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b. Oct.11,1834,m.Oct.31,1855 Magdalene J.Kruger. On January 1, 1885 Joseph Irving formed a partnership with his son, Arthur I., and from "The Boot & Shoe Recorder" we glean the following: Mr. J. Irving Benedict, whose picture is reproduced in this issue, is the senior member of the firm of J. Irving Benedict & Son, the well known slipper manufacturers and jobbers of 142 Duane Street, this city (N.Y.) The manufacturing and jobbing of slippers is a feature of the shoe trade which originated with Mr. Benedict and in this branch of the trade this firm stands pre-eminent. Mr. Benedict is a lineal descendant of James Benedict who founded the business in 1768 in New Canaan, Conn. and brought to New York by wagons where they were sold to the jobbing trade in dozen lots. These goods were always made in the best and most substantial manner, no pains were spared to give the customer the very best that could be produced for the money. The excellent quality of the work turned out soon gained for the house a reputation for fair dealing and good goods which has never left it and which the present firm guards as zealously as did any of its predecessors. The house gradually extended its operations until it had established a reputation throughout all New England and the southern and western states, where "New Canaan Shoes" soon became very popular. The firm moved into its present quarters on May 1, 1885, and their store is one of the finest shoe establishments in New York. Mr. Benedict has provided us with an interesting story on "The Origin of the Nullifier," written for "The Shoe and Leather Reporter" and reprinted in the New Canaan Messenger Jan. 24, 1903. CH.

556.Henry Gaines[8], (Caleb S.[7], Caleb[6], James[5], Caleb[4], John[3], John[2], Thomas[1],)b. July 24,1853, the youngest son of Caleb S. Benedict. He was trained as a shoe cutter and worked in the factory until the firm went out of business. For a short time thereafter he conducted a retail shoe business in Stamford,Conn., but eventually accepted a responsible position with the well known Alexander Shoe Store on Sixth Avenue, N.Y.C., where he continued until failing health compelled his retirement.

Henry had a quick wit and a keen memory and in his later years he contributed much valuable historical material in the form of memoirs of his early days in New Canaan in letters to the New Canaan Advertiser. To his sense of humor and facile pen we are indebted for much factual information as well as human interest stories. On one occasion he lapsed into verse and concluded a description of the work in the factory with the following literary gem:

"Let firm well-hammered soles protect thy feet,
Through freezing snows and rains and soaking sleet,
Should the big last extend the shoe too wide,
Each stone will wrench the step aside;
The sudden turn may stretch the swelling vein,
The cracking joint unhinge, or ankle sprain:
And when to short the modish shoes are worn,
You'll judge the seasons by your shooting corn."

By the early 1890's countless factories all over the country were making good shoes in great quantities and at high speed by machinery and toward the close of 1893 the Benedicts deemed it advisable to discontinue the making of hand-made goods. Successful competition with the cheaper product was impossible. On December 15, 1893 the co-partnership of Junius and Theodore W. Benedict was "dissolved by mutual consent," Theodore purchasing the retail department and giving his attention to that exclusively until his death which occured Jul.4,1908.

Mr. M. Farmer Murphy in his excellent story of Benedict's Shoe Store in the N. Y. Times of June 22, 1924 and reprinted in Landmarks of New Canaan, page 177, relates: "When T. W. Benedict died in 1908 his son, T. W. Benedict, Jr., took upon the succession and continued the business as a retail establishment until this spring when he decided reluctantly to end the long family tradition and take up other affairs. The passing of "Benedict's Shoe Store" is notable as being the end of the oldest shoe business in America, but it is more interesting still in that it marks the extinction of an industry and the removal of the last vestige of a mode of living now known only in histories or existing in the memories of oldest inhabitants. The closing out of Benedict's marks only the ending of a long-lived business and the disappearance of the last trace of a once active industry, but it also signalizes the passing of a social and economic system. Henry married Mary Jane Lockwood. He d. 1937 at New Canaan, Conn. CH.

He d.July 18,1834 age 87 yrs. Buried in Blocktown Cemetery on Pompey Center Road between Pompey Center and Fabius, corner of road #3. Revolutionary Soldier. See "Rev. Soldiers of Onondaga Co. N.Y.," Beauchamps Records. The family record shows this Revolutionary soldier was born in Danbury, Conn. He was a teacher in early life, and his name appears in the 16th Regiment, Conn. Line, '80. Also a Sgt. in N.Y. Militia and applied for pension in 1831. Declaration, made by him, in order to obtain the benefit of the act of Congress passed June 7,1832: State of New York, County of Onondaga. On this 15th day of Aug. 1832 personally appeared before George Pettit, a judge of the county courts, in and for said county, at his own house, being unable from bodily infirmity to appear in open court, Jonathan Benedict, a resident of the Town of Pompey in said county, aged 87 years who being first duly sworn, according to law, doth on his oath, make the following declaration, in order to obtain the benefit of the Act of Congress passed June 7,1832--that he entered the service of the U. S., under the following named officers, and served as herein stated. That he was 10 yrs. old when the French War began and 30 yrs. old when the Revolution began and that there was just 20 yrs. between the two wars, that his recollections are not distinct as to dates, but he recollects being out along the coast on two or three short drafts the very forepart of the war, living then a resident of Danbury in the State of Conn. and remembers going once in this service under Capt. Joseph Smith and Col. Couch, one or both of whom belonged in Brookfield, that he after went in this way on short drafts from three weeks to two months, and in frequent general alarms, when maraudering parties of the enemy would land from their ships and from Long Island, and when the whole country would turn out as far as twenty miles, which was the distance of Danbury from Norwalk, to which place, and to Middlesex and Byram River and other places.

He often went in drafts as aforesaid and general alarms and thinks his sources in this way, in all, could not have been less than one year during the war, that he belonged at home with Capt. Daniel Hicocks Co. of Militia and part of the time Capt. Joseph Elmore was Captain at home and that he was orderly Sargeant in said company, and when out in the service as aforesaid Capt. Hicock went out on some of the aforesaid drafts and alarms, but Capt. Elmore never went.

He well recollects, while at Byram River, he was Sargeant of the Guard one night, was relieved in the morning by another Sargeant with his guard and thinks his name was Curtiss, and immediately a party of the British came and dispersed his guard, killed one of our men left in a house, took another out of doors and told him in derision to say his prayers for he must die and they killed him in the presence of a neighboring woman who stood pleading for his life. That in 1776 he was drafted and went to New York under the said Capt. Hicock and Col. Ely Mygatt, commonly called Col. Maggot, and was there when our people left the city and belonged to a party that was ordered to call the men away from the entrenchment and was ordered to go a second time and see that our men were all out of the entrenchments and there found two men still there, by the names of Peter and Stephen Ambler with whom he was acquainted at home that he was in the fighting when the enemy took possession and believes he left home this time in July or Aug. and returned home in the fall having been gone as much as three months and remembers crossing Kings Bridge which is 12 miles from New York.

In forepart of the same year he went, and served under Capt. Hicock and Col. Mygatt in N. Y., he thinks as long as six weeks or two months and well recollects that he came back by water and landed at Norwalk in Conn., that he went on, the same day and traveled about six miles to Betts Tavern in Wilton, where he stayed all night and next morning traveled on to a place called Umpwaughill, where he met his brother-in-law, Moses Vail, with two horses who had come to meet him and help him home, and that he did orderly Sargeant duty during the whole of the aforesaid service at New York.

He well remembers seeing Gen. George Washington and Col. Meigs while at New York. Afterwards toward the close of the war and during the time that Gen. McDougal was in command of the Continental troops at West Point, he went to that place and trained a company under Col. Canfield of New Milford in Conn. and his regiment was one-years men, that he joined the Company as follows: he had been harrassed so much, in alarms and drafts where he lived in Danbury, he considered it was time to go away and join the service some where from home. Col. Mygott gave him a pass and recommendation to Col. Canfield then at West Point, in the month of June and agreed with Col. Canfield to join his regiment with whom he was well acquainted, and remained in said regiment four months and was discharged in Oct. of the same year by his consent and agreement that he well remembers that there was some differences between Gen. McDougal and Col. Canfield, between the Continentals and the years men, about doing labor on fatigue that they were preparing firewood for West Point for the winter, that the wood was brought there in boats and had to be carried up a terrible great hill, that is, Gen. McDougal intended to have the militia as they were called, bring it up the hill which they did and grumbled about it, also because of a good deal of other hard service on fatigue more than they thought belonged to them.

West Point lies on the north river on the west side above New York, and the deponant remembers the names of Crumpond, Peekskill in that neighborhood. He was taken into the service as aforesaid by Col. Canfield as an Orderly Sgt. and did that duty during the said term of more than four months, which he believes was in the year 1781, but is not positive. That while the deponant was out on one of the above terms of service his brother, Gilbert Benedict, of Danbury of aforesaid, now deceased, in behalf of himself and the deponant according to a rule in Conn. that if any two men would furnish a soldier for during the war his service should answer for both, did hire one John Allen of New London to serve for them as aforesaid during the war, and each paid said Allen fifty silver dollars for his service, that through ignorance of said Gilbert, he conducted said Allen into the State of N. Y. where he joined Col. Willetts regt. which mistake of said Gilbert by not entering said Allen in the Conn. regt. This was the cause of deponants being afterwards called on to perform duty in that state. Said Allen did serve as aforesaid during the war in persuance of said agreement, in Col. Willett's Regt. of N. Y. troops and had 600 acres of land patented to him in the county of Onondaga and was not seen after the war by either of his said employers.

He has no documentary evidence and that he knows of no person whose testimony he can procure who can testify to his service, that soon after he came into this town about 15 yrs. ago, two and one half years of which time he has resided in Cazenovia in Madison Co., N. Y. His eyesight began to fail and for seven years he has been almost entirely blind, which has been the cause of confinement at home, so that no clergyman is sufficiently acquainted with him to certify as to his reputation as a soldier in the Revolution. He hereby relinquishes every claim whatever to a pension for annuity, except the present and declares his name is not on the pension roll of the aging of any state.

Sworn and subscribed by George Pettit, Judge of Onondaga Co. Courts

The following legal document submitted by Gilbert's son, Stephen (see picture of Stephen in picture illustrations) for Jonathan, Gilbert's brother, to obtain government pension. This also certifies that Gilbert served in the Revolutionary War.

(State of New York, County of Onondaga on this 15th day of August 1832 personally appeared before George Pettit, a Judge of the County Courts, Stephen Benedict, a resident of the Town of Pompey in said county, who being duly sworn before the said Judge, declares and certifies that he is well acquainted now, and has been heretofor for the term of almost 15 years in Pompey aforesaid, with Jonathan Benedict who has subscribed and sworn to the above declaration, that he believes him to be eighty-seven years of age, that he is reputed and believed in the neighborhood where he resides, to have been a soldier of the revolution and that deponant concurs in that opinion. That deponant is son of Gilbert Benedict named in the said declaration, that he has frequently heard said Gilbert say that he was in the service with said Jonathan as much as 8 or 9 months and has also heard him make statements about the said Jonathan and himself having hired one Allen to serve for them during the war as set forth in said declaration. Sworn and subscribed the day and year aforesaid before Judge Pettit. Signed: Stephen Benedict)

On February 15th, 1806 Gilbert quit claimed his property and interest that he had, both real and personal, of his father, Nathaniel's, estate in Danbury to his nephew, Oliver Vail, son of Moses and Hannah Benedict Vail, who died in Fabius Oct. 15, 1841, age 64 yrs. 15 days. He is buried in Blocktown Cemetery. He had a sister, Olive Elenor Vail. The foregoing was recorded June 11, 1807 by Joseph Moss White, Register and Thomas Taylor, Justice of the Peace. Taken from Danbury land records, Book 13, Page 574.

The 1790 N. Y. census lists Gilbert as a resident of Stillwatertown, Albany Co., N. Y. with 5 boys under 16 and one daughter. He and son, Walter, bought three pieces of land on June 7, 1814, Lot 7, 48½ acres for $720. On June 28,1814 Gilbert of Fabius and #59 Walter sold to #56 Stephen, his brother, of Pompey for $200 part of Lot 7 in Fabius, 22 acres inclusive of mill and yard (lumber mill.) Sept. 15,1813 Gilbert and Mercy of Pompey sold 40 acres of Lots 97-98 for $493. Gilbert bought from John Atkinson of N.Y.C., a merchant, the southwest corner of Lot 97, 300 acres, counded by other land conveyed to #54 Enoch, consideration of $300. On Jan. 6, 1806 Gilbert sold 60 acres to Elihu Barber of Lot 97 for $180 and 20 acres to Amos Newman for $100. Gilbert died Dec. 4,1827 in his 81st year, born 1745, married Mercy Weed of Stamford, Conn.,b.1752,d.Aug.4,1826. Both buried at Blocktown Cem.

James A., since boyhood has been a farmer, and has been subjected to all the hardships of pioneers, but through indomitable pluck and preseverance he became a well-to-do owner of property both in this town and in the town of LaFayette. Always a loyal Republican in politics, he was nevertheless loath to accept a political office but the leaders of his party decided on account of his popularity and genial disposition to force the nomination of town tax collector upon his shoulders. He was elected by a large majority.

When Charles Haw refused a renomination for the assessorship in 1900, Mr. Benedict was placed on the ticket and won the election, as well as many others since that time. His record on the DeWitt Town Board of Assessors is one to be proud of and the taxpayers as a unit have expressed their sincere regrets over his untimely demise. Besides his duties on the Town Board and his farming duties he was also successful in the insurance business, being director of the Madison Onondaga County Fire Ins. Co. for many years.

He was an active member, elder and trustee of the Collamer Methodist Church. He was a mail carrier for some years from Collamer and Eastwood on the "Star Mail Route," taking pouches of mail to the Main Post Office in Syracuse, then at the corner of Clinton and Genesee Streets. For many years he was elected Trustee of the DeWitt #4 School. At that time trustee included treasurer, clerk as well as the duties of trustee and inspector of elections. He was also a member of the 85th Regt. of the N. Y. National Guard in 1864-5. He died on August 9,1915 at his home on the present homestead. His funeral was conducted at the Collamer Methodist Church by the Rev. Whittaker. The text was Luke 5: 1. In a few well chosen remarks he paid tribute to the life and character of the deceased. He spoke about his being an elder in the church and the good work he had done in promoting the cause of religion and humanity. The funeral was one of the largest seen in the community in many years with the church being filled to capacity. CH.

William A. was son William Henry Cramer, b.Dec.26,1837,d.Nov.2,1910,m.Feb.6,1865 Sarah Jane Beebe,dau. Galutia & Christina(Phillips)Beebe,b.Sept.5,1847 Cleveland,N.Y., d.May 10,1935. Galutia,b.Jan.17,1816,d.Mar.31,1881, one of 14 children of Nathan Beebe, a native of Vermont, a lumberman and miller who came to Constantia about 1795.

Oscar, at the age of ten, removed with his parents to the present farm where he was raised. Not only did he assist with the duties on his father's farm, but for many years as a youth he worked as a hired hand on many of the prominent farms in the area such as the Henry Adams farm in North Manlius and the Wm. Randall farm of Navarino and several others in the area.

From the age of twenty-one until thirty-seven he worked for the New York Central Railroad Co. as a car inspector. During this time he lived with his father, James A. and his step-mother, Henrietta. Upon his marriage to Clara M. Cramer he quit the railroad and purchased a 100 acre farm adjoining the homestead. Here he carried on a dairying enterprise for ten years. He then purchased the homestead from his widowed step-mother and lived there carrying on a general farming business until his death. He had a large route in East Syracuse selling butter, eggs, and garden produce for 28 years. This route was started in the horse and buggy days with he and his wife making the trip with the produce. He had a great circle of friends due to his contact with so many people not only in East Syracuse but in the neighborhood.

In youth he joined the Collamer Methodist Church but in later life accepted the Truth as taught by the Apostles and Jesus Christ. After making a profession of this faith when two of the preachers held meetings in the Fly Road schoolhouse, he opened his home for the Sunday morning worship service for sixteen years. He was a strict believer in the keeping of the Lord's Day and never sold produce or worked on that day. His death occured on March 22, 1949 with the funeral well attended by his many friends, neighbors and relatives.

During his life he was a staunch supporter of the Republican party like his father, but never held any office.

Clara M. died on February 21, 1964 after a fall which fractured her hip. She spent her last years helping her son, Elwyn, assemble data for this book. She and Oscar are buried in the Collamer Cemetery with their parents and many other relatives.

Presented the Bronze Star with the following citation: "For Heroic achievement in connection with operations against the enemy while serving as a medical corpsman with the Marine Infantry Battalion on Iwo Jima, Volcano Is. during the period of Feb. 1945-March 26,1945. He, on innumerable occasions cared for the wounded under enemy fire and during darkness. On March 2, although painfully wounded by shrapnel in the abdomen, he refused to be evacuated and continued to assist and administer aid. He showed great courage and ability in caring for the wounded under fire when again sustaining a wound by shrapnel in his right shoulder on March 5th. The manner in which he performed his duties was undoubtedly responsible for saving many lives and was in keeping with the highest traditions of the U. S. Naval Service." He is presently practicing Chiropodist and Foot Surgery in Lansing,Mich. R.,117 E.Hillsdale,Lansing

III.Oscar Ulyses,b.Aug.12,1870 Neb.,m.Aug.26,1898 Amanda Pearl Nieman, dau.John & Louise(Miller)Nieman, a well-to-do cabinet maker and farmer. Her parents, being aged, made their home at the beautiful Nieman Mansion, built by Amanda's father. In 1961 the house still stands with its beautiful hand carving. Amanda and her seven children were born in this home. Besides farming Oscar built his own blacksmith shop, owned the first car in the community in 1912, had the second telephone and was one of the first to have carbide lights piped in. He gained an enviable position among the progressive and successful farmer citizens of Portage Co.
The years have brought him a large degree of that natural prosperity which is characteristic of the rich section of Wisconsin. The esteem of the community has increased in proportion to the length of his residence, and his fellow citizens have come to rely upon him as one of the leaders in many of those movements which mark the enlightened progress of any locality. A very religious man in the Church of Christ, he always carried a Bible in his vest pocket and used it. He read the Bible every morning with his wife and children before starting the days' duties. He went into his study each evening, and when he came out saw that his children were well entertained with story telling and games, in front of the flickering fire. On Apr.19,1920 he was burned to death while trying to save a garage where he worked. His faithful wife without any income, and the youngest child being five years, raised her children putting five through college and one through business school. Four taught school. She taught her girls to embroider and crochet, play the piano and make clothes until the wee hours of the morning. Few nobler women will ever be found. She d.Apr.4,1959.

A prominent Cincinnati contractor and builder. He came to Ohio at the age of 18 and taught school at Ashland. Returning to Rochester at the age of 25, he married and in 1856 moved to Chicago, to Cincinnati in 1863.

He was widely known in many states and Canada as an intelligent business man. He was a contractor and before the late war was engaged in building leeves in the south, since then his business was in contracts for building railroads, bridges, tunnels, etc. He was a quick and accurate calculator, prompt in decision and vigorous in the prosecution of an enterprise. He was usually successful when he followed his own judgment, but in some cases confided to much in other men, and in so doing lost the bulk of his fortune. A democrat and in early life was quite active in advancing the interests of his party. An accommodating and generous neighbor, a constant and reliable friend and a kind and affectionate husband. "My father and mother, Smith and Electa, were born in New York State. Father's father (#55 Nathaniel) lived with them until he died when he was very old. Father was in the soda business. I will explain, at that time soda was made from wood ashes. Everybody saved his ashes and kept them dry as dry ashes brought a price. Father owned what was called an "ashery." He gathered the ashes and leached them and boiled the lye down to what was called potash and then loaded this product into canal boats and shipped it to Syracuse, N. Y. where it was refined and made into soda. My parents moved to Ohio about the year 1820 and settled near Columbus where Mother's people lived. Our people moved to Michigan in the Spring of 1856, I was one year old and it was pretty new at that time. Father and my two older brothers cleared a spot large enough to build a log house and there stood a large oak tree over four foot through and at its root was a large mound, years after my brother dug it open and found the bones of eight Indians. They were buried sitting down in a circle, their feet together. They apparently were killed in battle and were all buried at one time. Father had three brothers: Alonzo, Stephen and Hiram and three sisters: Selora and twins Alvira & Almira." R., Hillsdale Co., Mich. CH.

Newton Benedict, George's son, related that the first Benedicts of Fabius, "Gilbert, Enoch & Walter," came and built a wooden structure near a spring that still exists on the Pompey Center Road near the Blocktown Cemetery. It is on the knoll on the left just before coming to the cemetery as you leave Fabius. They stored cabbage and vegetables in the cellar that they dug under the building and traded things with the Indians so they could get horses to go back to Connecticut. The next year they came back with their families and this building had been burned down. (Mrs. James O. Virgil of Fabius told this to me on Nov. 10th, 1963.) CH.

"My Great Grandfather's Watch by Almon Homer Benedict"

(This noted old timer was carried by Jonathan Benedict, of Danbury, through the Revolutionary War; was afterward owned by his son, Elemuel, who entered the service with his father when but twelve years old; next by his son, the late Captain Elem Benedict, of Livonia Center, N. Y., and it now belongs to his nephew, the present writer.)

I love the song-and who shall dare to mock
The lyric strain?-inspired by Grand'ther's Clock:
The theme, well chosen, blest the bard that sung,
And minstrels voiced it with melodious tongue:
But this old relic-witness Father Time:-
Is no less worthy of the lofty rhyme,
Though I can boast no mighty master's skill,
And only sing because none other will.

Hail! ancient, venerable time-piece, hail!
List to my lay, suspended from thy nail,
For who shall say, with they expressive face,
Thou hast no soul, no sense within thy case?
Upon thy dial, marked the time I see,
In symbols of both Rome and Araby.
Thou hast a grave, calm look-art self-possessed;
An audible pulsation's in thy breast.
A cunning workman's lathe, and drill, and file,
And hammer wrought thee in famed Albion's Isle.

Although thy years be thrice three score and ten,
Brave is thy bearing 'mong the sons of men;
And still thou shin'st as bright as on the day
When some proud Briton bore his prize away.
Thou wast a Londoner, and Brentwood's name,
Graved on thy heart, participates thy fame.
They call thee, "Bulls-eye" - fitting simile,
Since bovine optics match and measure thee,
And old John Bull, with ever watchful eye,
Hath held thy make and pedigree full high.

Dim is thy record, passed from hand to hand,
Till wafted o'er the wave to Yankee-Land,
And for one Jonathan thy time was ticked,
Who led the growing tribe of Benedict.
It was the selfsame stalwart, stanch old man-
That shone, the typical "Brother Jonathan;"
And hence the name, in oratory, sung,
When freeborn Yankees' praises we prolong.
What wealth of offspring cheer'd the patriarch's breast,
Twice ten, save one, from his stout loins attest.

When time sped on, till came the clash of arms,
And patriots hasted from their shops and farms,
To face the red-coats, lo our veteran comes,
'Mid rattling muskets and the beat of drums!
Sees Danbury burn - his own loved native town,-
And on his foes calls God's swift vengeance down!
Through the long, bloody, continental strife,
He periled nobly, fortune, honor, life!
I knew him, vigorous still, unbent and bold,
When nigh a century o'er his head had roll'd;
To see him swing the flail, the maul upraise,
Would shame the men of these degenerate days!
He left New England's storied rocks and rills,

To find a home 'mong Pompey's rugged hills,
In 'York, wherein he sought 'mid ampler fields,
The readier thrift, her richer surface yields.
Here rest his bones, in earth's green bosom laid,
With souls of patriots dwells his honored shade.

And thou - old comrade of his stormy life,
What time he braved the tomahawk and knife!
Thou - that hast been where deadly bullets flew
And charging hosts, their gleaming bayonet drew,
Thou - that in lovers' wild bower graced his side,
While erst he wooed his rosy woodland bride!
Ah, thou art prized, my own great-grandsire's friend,
And willing tribute to thy worth I lend.
Well did Elemuel, son of Jonathan,
(My grand'ther) guard thee, through life's checkered span,
A hardy wheelright, skillful in his art,
Of social nature and a cheerful heart
How oft I sat me down, his chair beside,
When blinding age and palsy he defied,
To hear him tell, with wit's electric stroke,
Rib-tickling tales, and crack the lightning joke.
His humor served him to his latest day,
A smile was on him when he passed away!

Next his son, Elem, safe the treasure kept,
To ripe old age, and with his father slept,
A daring but mild-mannered, modest man,
Through whose warm breast the soldier spirit ran.
Though lithe of frame, he had a hero's head,
A fearless eye, a military tread.
Romance the Captain knew, in real life,
'Twas his to witness villainy and strife,
To manage outlaws, cut-throats, thieves,- the race
Of scoundrels, that humanity disgrace.
What force, adroitness, gallantry, and skill
He brought to bear, are oft related still.
With his unfaltering courage he prevailed,
When blustering Falstaffs signally had failed.
In duty brave, he lean'd to mercy's side,
Blameless he lived, and loved, lamented, died.

Such were thy owners - like thee, tried and true,
My dear old keepsake - whom in youth I knew,
How many generations in our line,
Ere these, thous't numbered, we may ne'er divine,
Suffice it, thou art no ephemeral thing,
Thou'st seen Columbia wrested from the king,
Seen forest fall before the pioneer,
The city rise, the savage disappear.
Thy heart beats soundly yet, unspent thy powers.
May still, for centuries, mark the winged hours,
To future ages may thy works descend,
And unborn Benedicts thy fame defend!

Asahel,b.1792 N.Y.State,m.Evelina Moore, a native of Conn. and dau.of Chandler Moore of England, who served in the Colonial Army during the Revolution, and was wounded by sabre cut at the Battle of Brandwine. They were united in marriage in Ohio and permantly resided in the State, having been among the earliest settlers of Franklin Co. Prior to coming to Ohio he was a farmer in N.Y.State. During the second contest for American Relief from the British Tyrany he became a teamster driving oxen and carrying stores and ammunition and using a musket on various occasions. He participated in Battle of Tippecanoe and during the War became very strongly attached to General W. H. Harrison with whom he at one time swapped horses. She d.1839. He d.1881 at age 89 years. They had nine children of which four sons grew to manhood and all served in the Union Army in the Civil War. CH.

II. Flaven T., member of 95th Ohio Inf. and served under Gen. Thomas at the Battle of Nashville during which he rec'd. his death wound.
III. Charles W., member of 3rd Ohio Inf. and was captured by the confederates in the early years of the War but was exchanged and continued to serve his country until the close of the contest. He married and had one son. R., Ohio
IV. Henry Lafayette, second member of this family, b.Apr.1,1827 at Franklin Co., O.,m.Sept.13,1849 Sarah Elizabeth, dau. Thomas Andrew & Lucy Dollins Andrew. He a native of N.C. and a mechanic by trade, who departed this life in 1878; Lucy a native of Va. who d. 1874. They were the parents of eight children, Mrs. Benedict(Sarah) being the third in order of birth. Two of Sarah's brothers, William and John, entered the Union Army and the latter died in the service 1865.

Henry Lafayette was Postmaster of Milan, Kansas, and was of those deserving citizens whose history the biographer takes great pleasure in writing. For more than a decade he has resided in Ryan Twp. and during those years he has filled the positions of responsibility among his fellow-men, and has ever been found faithful in the discharge of his duties, both in those public capacities and in those of private life. His loyalty and devotion to his country were manifested during the Civil War, and proved him a worthy son.

He was reared to the age of sixteen at the place of his birth. He received a common school education in the district schools and at the age of thirteen began life for himself as a farm hand working by the month. Three years later he went to Louisiana and was was engaged in checking timber and in saw mill work near New Orleans for about four years, after which he spent a year getting out timber in the swamps. While there he cast his first vote for Gen. Zachery Taylor for President. After the lumbering and milling experience in the South, he turned his face Northward and settled in Washington County, Ind. on a farm, continuing to reside in the Hoosier State and occupying himself with agricultural labors until 1871 with the exception of the time which he devoted to his country's service on the field of battle. At the date mentioned he removed to Kansas, settled on a farm in Cowley Co. near Winfield and six years later removed to the farm which he now occupies near Milan. His estate comprises 160 acres of land, all improved and supplied with full assortment of buildings in good condition, and everything about the place indicates that the owner is thoroughly acquainted with the details of his chosen occupation and a capable judge of the needs of the county and consequently discriminating in regard to stock and crops.

Mr. Benedict was appointed Postmaster at Milan June 24, 1889 and besides conducting the office, which is a fourth-class and money order one, he handles a stock of groceries. "The shot heard around the world" had scarcely ceased to re-echo throughout the land ere Mr. Benedict had determined to do what lay in his power to prevent the dissolution of the Union. He enlisted July 13, 1861 as a private in Co. K. 23rd. Inf. and six months later was promoted to the rank of Corporal. The command was sent to St. Louis, and thence to Paducah, Ky., and served under Gen. U. S. Grant until after the fall of Vicksburg, following which they were under the leadership of Gen. Logan, Gen. McPherson and Gen. F. P. Blair, later under command of Gen. Gresham and still later Gen. Sherman. He participated in the trying contests of Forts Henry and Donelson on the bloody field of Shilo throughout the siege of Vicksburg at Raymond, Jackson, Miss., Champion Hill and Black River. He took part in a running fight with Bragg's army, in the Sherman raid to Meridian, Miss, in the affray at Big Shanty and in the notable engagement at Kenesaw Mountain. He celebrated the Fourth of July 1864 by taking part in the rattle of musketry and a clash of arms on the Chattahoochie River, and during the following day also spent the hours in renewed attempt to preserve the life of the nation that had been born 88 years before. A few days after engagement, the three year term service for which the regiment had been enlisted having expired, they were sent to Rothwell, Ga., discharged and going to Chattanooga, Tenn. were there mustered out of the service.

Although Mr. Benedict did not attain high rank, and his name was not blazoned before the world as a great general or leader of some dashing exploit, he is nevertheless as brave, gallant and worthy a soldier as could be found in all ranks. Praise and honor are justly due to the great leaders whose capacity to plan and to execute campaigns led victory to perch upon the banners of the Union forces. But to the noble men who like our subject, left home and loved ones and endured all the privations, dangers and arduous toils of "life on the tented field," no less is indeed honor due. no less is the heart of a lover of his country thrilled by recollection of all they suffered and all which we owe them. And what shall be said of the noble women who after bidding their loved ones a fond good-by took up the great burden of family support, which so often devolved upon them. The wife of Mr. Benedict was left with four small children when he took up arms, and during the weary months of his absence she filled father's place to them, exercised a wise oversight over their worldly affairs, and proved that she could sacrifice and endure in her country's cause. This lady, who for many years has stood by Mr. Benedict's side, sharing in his trials and his joys, and with him endeavoring to worthily fill their sphere in life, bore the maiden name of Sarah Elizabeth Andrew.

Mr. Benedict belongs to John Goldy Post, No. 90 G.A.R. and was Vice Commander in 1888. He is much interested in educational matters, and has been a member of the school board for several years. He was Treasurer of Ryan Township in 1887, and he is one of the gentlemen who named it. In politics he is always actively interested, and is a never failing supporter of the Republican ticket. Both he and his wife are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in which he is a Trustee and Chairman of the Board, and the entire family take active part in the work of the Sunday School. Mrs. Benedict has been a member of the church since 1842, having identified herself with that religious body at the age of eleven years. CH.

(This is the day of the young man, and the truth of this assertion is met with very often in studying the successful business men of a town or city; one of the progressive and successful of the younger men of the town of Endicott,N.Y. is Floyd Hobart Benedict, born Oct. 4, 1890, in South New Berlin, N. Y. His father was the owner of a large farm and when not busy about the homestead worked at the trades of carpenter and painter, excelling in both these lines.

When Floyd completed the public schools he assisted his father in the farm work, following this occupation for several years. His thrift and industry during this time earned a competence for him, and after reaching manhood he came to Endicott where he purchased a garage and accessary store, which he has since successfully conducted. This garage is the largest in Endicott and has storage space for 50 cars. A large repair business is done and in the accessary department may be found the articles to supply the needs of motorists. He is a most energetic worker in the ranks of the Prohibition Party. R., R.D.#2,Apalachin,N.Y. CH.

His last pastorate was in Riverside, R.I. where he died Apr. 3,1917. After his death his wife wrote (Yale '80 Class Book 1920:)
"He had won the love of the whole community and had a marked influence from the first upon the young people of the place. He continued to advance new plans for social uplift and to work beyond his strength. On March 25, 1917, he suffered an attack of cerebral hemorrhage and was mercifully released on April 3rd. A few months later a service flag bearing 92 stars hung over the door of the church. All of "his" boys were volunteers. George Benedict had expected to live to be old and had dearly loved the green earth and his fellowmen and every little child that ever breathed. His faith in immortality was absolute and to those of us who loved him most he never seems far away." CH.

278. Rev.George Elliott[9], (Rev.Samuel[8], Andrew[7], Ira[6], Oliver[5], Benjamin[4], James[3], James[2], Thomas[1])b.Oct.13,1859 Marietta,Ga. (The following is an article supplied by the Benedict School explaining the history of the school and the life of Mr. Benedict:)

"Benedict Yesterday and Today" written in 1950.

In 1895 our own Benedict School had its beginning. Rev. George E. Benedict, an Episcopal Minister, had long realized the need for a broader educational program for all children and especially for the youth whose financial prospect was below par. His life-long ambition was to help the unfortunate children and to raise their standard of living by giving them a practical education under religious influences.

Rev. George Benedict, with the help of his brother, Ernest, founded the school in honor of their father, Rev. Samuel C. Benedict, who had spent many years as pastor of churches in different parts of Georgia.

"Samuel Benedict Memorial School" was designed to be a day school and boarding school for Episcopalians, but any boy or girl who really wanted an education was enrolled in the school and given the help he needed even to free room and board if he could not pay. The entrance requirement was an earnest desire to learn and the willingness to try.

The step-mother, Mrs. Samuel Benedict, came to live in Polk County after the death of her husband. She was house mother during the early days of the boarding school and was fondly loved and remembered as "Mother Benedict." She was a devoted friend and an inspiration to all with whom she came in contact. Many people who have long ago forgotten most details about the early school still have very clear memories of the wonderful influence of "Mother Benedict."

The original school building was a two-story frame structure which stood on a hill overlooking the mill and dam on the creek. It was both a dormitory and classroom building. This house, now owned and occupied by Mr. & Mrs. C. A. Hogan, was owned by the early school and many of the teachers lived there as well as students. Though some of them lived in Cedartown, two miles away, or several miles farther away on some country road, they usually boarded at the school for the roads were bad and travel was slow. Many day students from Cedartown came every day for classes. A horse drawn bus (wagon,) the first in the county, made trips to town each day for pupils. This bus is described as being something like a wagon with spring seats along each side. Mr. M. O. Barrett, a student at the time, was part time driver of that bus about 1896 and 1897.

The house, near the Benedict home, now owned and occupied by Mrs. W. A. Beckham, was in the early 1900 used for the different club meetings and was called the "Kitty Richardson Club House" in memory of a former teacher by that name.

The old mill and the farm belonging to the school were very important in the growth at the school as part of its support and as the means by which pupils "learned by doing" and sometimes paid their school expenses.

The first term opened in the fall of 1895 with 15 or 20 boarding students. And the school was formally dedicated by Bishop Nelson a short time later.

The early Benedict School offered courses in the three R's and other accepted courses in an elementary and high school program. There were always practical work in domestic science and farming, and much emphasis was placed on health, home, hygiene and home nursing, at a time when learning to be a better farmer or home-maker was most needed. To further broaden this practical education a laundry was installed in the school and the girls were given expert instructions in the best methods of laundering the household linens. There was also a well equipped shop where all who so desired could take a course in wood work.

The credit rating at Old Benedict ranked among the best in Georgia. The first teachers were college graduates and were perfectly capable of teaching anything from first grade through two years of college work. A diploma from Benedict during the early years gave a student entrance to Junior Class at the University of Georgia without examination.

One of the teachers who was present that first day in 1895 to take over duties was Miss Willie Wood. One of the first graduating classes included Miss Ann Brumby, Miss Mary Barton, Miss Annie Hall, Horace Howard, Horace Johnson, Ben Purse and Hampton Field. The 1899 class lists Mary Brumby, Lucille Hightower, Florence Chapman, Jennie Huntington and Robert Jones. Among the graduates of 1901 were Misses Eloise Cornelius, Frances Callan, Lizzie Hudson, Emma Kate Young and Charlie Brumby.

In 1902 George Benedict married Miss Jennie Clark of New Jersey, and she became his right arm and devoted heart in the life of the school. She was very devoted to her husband's project and especially was she interested in the welfare of the boys and girls who sought their education under the roof of Benedict Memorial School.

The religious ideals were carried out in every way possible. There were weekly church services in addition to daily chapel exercises where all denominations could take part. There were few churches in the county which had regular pastors and the Benedict School became the spiritual center for families of all denominations in this part of the county. However, Mr. George and "Miss Jennie" put more stress on the practical use of religion than on church services. They taught and demonstrated to parents and children that helping others in time of need was a very important part of Christian living.

The Benedicts and the School Faculty knew the parents and home situations of all their pupils. They established Mother's Clubs and Farmer's Clubs and helped in every way they could to improve the standards of living and build a better community. They diligently kept watching for any unmet needs among the poorest pupils and found ways of supplying medical care for the many physical ills of the rural children as well as spiritual guidance for all. The doctors of Cedartown and specialists in Atlanta often gave their services in holding clinics: vaccinations, removal of tonsils and other corrective measures carried on at the school building or "brick house" as it was often referred to. It was not unusual for the school officials to take a parent or child to Atlanta for free treatment or surgery. Thus the Benedict School program, established before the local or state programs of health, education, child-labor laws, Home Demonstration and Farm Agents, gave learning opportunities and a chance for better health and better living for the young people and their parents.

During the first ten years of the school disaster struck twice in the form of fires. The first building burned, was rebuilt and burned again prior to 1905. The new building erected in 1905 was financed by Bishop Nelson and patrons of the Benedict Community furnished the labor. Among the youngsters living near by who helped with the construction of this building by carrying water for the working men was Mr. Tom Grant who says that he was "water boy" when they could find him.

In 1910 eight pupils, four boys and four girls, graduated from the tenth grade. Some of those graduates were Miss Susie Jones, Mr. Roy Casey and Mr. Abner Hogg.

About 1912 Benedict Memorial School was changed from a private institution to the Polk County School System. Mr. George Benedict was superintendent of the county system between 1912 and 1916 when he left Georgia to make his home in Florida. The Benedicts felt in leaving the community that they were leaving a job only begun, but that they were leaving it in proper hands. The ideals of the Benedicts and those of many leading citizens in the community were the same after twenty-one years of close association in this work.

Mr. George passed away in January 1950 at the age of 91 years. Mr. Ernest Benedict is 88 years old and lives in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Many interesting incidents happened during those first years as they have every year since. Miss Willie Wood relates some of her experiences in teaching English to a group of large boys. She said that since a baseball club had been organized these boys of course were more interested in the rules of their club than they were in the rules of English grammar. This rule was found in the back of a boy's composition book: "Positively no fighting allowed, but if they do fight, part them." During another class period when called on for some rules of politeness one boy wrote: "When you take your girl to church, help her up the steps, and by all means fan her."

Polk County School System has been fortunate in having capable, farsighted superintendents such as: Mr. Houseal, Mr. Benedict, Mr. John Sutton, Mr. William Janes, Miss Ann Brumby and Mr. Kankakee Anderson, the present superintendent. In 1918 Benedict School was well represented on the battle fronts and on the casualty list of World War I. Also among those who faithfully answered the call to duty were former Benedict girl students who enlisted their services as Red Cross nurses.

Enrollment at Benedict School has climbed steadily the last 20 years. In 1927 the enrollment was 158 students and five teachers. By 1940 403 students enrolled for the classes of eleven teachers. The year 1949 finds Polk County Schools already consolidated with modern heating plants, sanitary rest rooms, audio-visual equipment and up-to-date lunch rooms for serving hot lunches. During the 1950-51 school term 614 children made up the student body of Benedict School and fifteen teachers plus a non-teaching principal. The school was changed in early 1940's from a grammar and high school to a grammar school which is still the case. After the students finish the 7th grade they are carried by bus to Cedartown High. (The data on this school was furnished by Miss Lillie Payne, Principal in 1961.) CH.

Benedict of Cincinnati. Deacon 1883, Priest 1884, P.E.Ch. Rector, Fernbank & Riverside, O. 1884-9, St. Paul's, Steubenville, O. 1889-93, Dean, Trinity Cath. Cleveland, O. 1893-1906. Elected Nov. 16, 1905, consecrated Feb. 7, 1906 Bishop of Mich. Chaplain, Ohio Nat. Guard 1893-6. Was Pres. Cleveland Library Board two terms, mem. Standing Committee, Diocese of Ohio, Delegate Gen. Convention, P.E. Church since 1895. Clubs: City N.Y., Cobden London, Authors Boston. Author: A Valid Christianity for Today, The Christian Ministry and Social Problems, The Gospel of Fellowship, also various reviews and addresses. Who's Who 1924. The following from "Dictionary of American Biography," Scribners:

In his religious and social views Bishop Williams belonged to the liberal school of thought. He had strong convictions regarding the proper mission of the Church and was outspoken and fearless in his expression of them, gratefully acknowledging that the writings of Walter Hauschenbush were one of the chief inspirations of his ministry. He became the leading exponent of his own communion of the "social gospel." His activities, addresses and writings made him widely known in the U. S. and abroad. In 1910 and 1920 he attended the Lambeth Conference in London. During the World War he went to France under appointment of the Red Cross. He was a member of the commission connected with the Inter-church World movement that investigated the steel industry. In 1921 he visited England with a group of Americans to study the English Labor movement in its relation to the Church. He was national president of the Church League for Industrial Democracy. The first of his books, A Valid Christianity for Today, containing addresses delivered on various occasions, appeared in 1909. His social views are most definitely set forth, however, in the three that followed: The Christian Ministry and Social Problems (1917, The Prophetic Ministry for Today (1912,) consisting of his Lyman Beacher lectures at the Yale Divinity School, and the Gospel of Fellowship (copr.1923,) in which he discusses Christian Fellowship as applied to races, nations, industry and the churches. The last named volume comprises the Cole Lectures for 1923 at the School of Religion, Vanderbilt University. Bishop Williams died before the date of their delivery and they were read, with some supplementation by Rev. Samuel S. Marquis. The ideas presented in these volumes were all the outgrowth of Williams' dynamic conviction that the church should be a potent agency in bringing about a new social order. Although admiting, somewhat reluctantly, that it should minister to the needs of the individual, he insisted that it had long been doing this too exclusively and that in its philanthropic work it had been taking care of the victims of the economic and industrial system without attempting to remedy the conditions that produced them. Its essential mission, he maintained, is to so transform society that present wrongs, injustices, limitations and sufferings shall no more exist. This end is to be achieved by engendering a world-wide fellowship, a union of intelligences, consciences and wills in pursuit of the common good. Emphatic was his warning, however, that it is the business of the Church to proclaim principles and not its business to recommend economic and political programs and methods; it must advocate industrial democracy but not concern itself with the mechanics of it; ministers are not called to be reformers, but to be prophets. "I am a root-and-branch single taxer," he wrote, "but I have never preached single tax from any Christian pulpit, and never shall." (Christian Min. & Soc.Prob.pg.99.)

While he enjoyed the affectionate admiration of many, he did not escape harsh criticism from those of more conservative beliefs. At the annual convention of the Diocese in 1921, he dramatically offered to resign as bishop if his personal views were judged an embarrassment to the Church. He died, suddenly, from a cerebral hemorrhage in his sixty-third year. Four sons and five daughters, with his widow, survived him.

One third of the remainder of the trust in excess of $2,5000,000 went to the Red Cross in Switzerland to establish the Clare R. Benedict Fund to be used "for the relief of war sufferers of all nations." One third went to the non-Catholic Cemetery at Tetaccio, Rome to provide for perpetual care of the graves of Miss Benedict's mother and aunt, and to maintain the cemetery. The other one third went to the Salvation Army, the Seaman's Church Institute and the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, all of N.Y.S. III.Agnes Caroline,b.Feb.11,1861 Norwalk,O.,m.Oct.14,1886 Frank D.Wickham who d.Apr.1933. She d.Mar.8,1934. Her great grandfather, Platt Benedict, built a log cabin where the Citizens Bank now stands, or next to the Court House. Another cabin was built after the first one burned. In 1819 he built a barn which was the first frame building in Norwalk. He and a Mr. Elisha Whittlesey laid out the town upon their arrival. A street, Benedict Avenue, was named for Platt and Whittlesey Ave. for Mr. Whittlesey, who did not remain there but later moved south in Ohio where he settled.

In 1819 Platt built a birch home. He became Postmaster and held the office as Mayor for several terms. The first Episcopal services of the town were held in his home and later on he gave a chapel for the Sunday School. It is believed by one of his ancestors that this was the first Sunday School chapel in the country. He helped form and was President of the Fireland Historical Society until his death. This society still exists in 1962 and there is now a museum. This museum was built by Frederick Wickham's father, Samuel Preston Wickham, who had thirteen children, Frederick being born in 1860. Frederick's son, Frank, m. Agnes Caroline Benedict. The D.A.R. Chapter in Norwark, Ohio was named for Sally DeForest, wife of Platt Benedict. (Information given by Eleanor Wickham) CH.

Forty-five years ago today I was born in Allen Co., Ky. That day was Wed. and this is Wed. also. My full name is Charles Willis Benedict. My father was born in Ky., May 16,1813, his name is Harrison, my grandfather, Benjamin, was born in Virginia in 1774. His father was born in Germany. My great-grandmother was born in France. My mother's people were of German descent, her maiden name was Walford or Wolford. She was born in Casey Co., Ky. In Nov. 1871 my father moved from Allen Co. to Union Co., Ky. In March 1880 he moved to Point Pleasant, New Madrid Co.,Mo. In the spring of 1882 he and mother moved back to Union Co., Ky. My mother died Aug.9,1896. Father died Sept.29,1900. My two brothers, Robert L. and Alexander M., live in Union Co., Ky. as does my sister, Mrs. Richey. I am the youngest and married Dec.8,1881 near Pt.Pleasant,Mo. to Alice Isabelle Sands,b.Dec.29,1859. The first five of our children were born in New Madrid Co.,Mo. The other three b. in Mississippi Co., Mo. In April 1891 I with my family moved from Pt. Pleasant to East Prairie, Mo. where we resided almost three years, then moved 5/8 mile east, 1/2 mile south of Whiting. In April 1889 we moved to Whiting. Feb. 27,1900 we left Whiting for St.Francois Co.,Mo. We arrived in Doe Run in afternoon of same day, moved on to Leadville Mar. 2. Moved home to Flat River, Mo. Mar.31,1900. In Jan. 1889 I went back to Ky. on a visit for the first time since I came to Mo., I had not seen a hill for 18 years until this trip. Our children never saw a hill until we made this visit." Sunday, Apr. 14, 1901 I feel so very sad, but will attempt to write. Charles Willis Benedict departed this life April 9, 1901. He had pneumonia. Lived until 9th day after taken sick, thought he was going to get well until the last day or two of his life." This latter part was evidently added to the diary by his wife, Alice Isabelle, who d.July 31,1953. She was dau. of William and Martha(Robertson)Sands. He was 2nd.
